45 Million Vote Expected Today

Check Predictions Against Returns

WASHINGTON (AP)—Here are the election claims by the two major party chairmen:

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall: Republicans will retain control of Congress by showing a net gain of 3 Senate and 15 or more House seats. No governorship claims.

Democratic National Chairman Stephen A. Mitchell: Democrats will pick up 4 Senate seats, a minimum of 25 House seats and 8 governorships.

Sheppard Case In Recess for Election Day

CLEVELAND (AP)—An election day recess today delayed a decision on whether James R. Manning, a convicted sex offender, should be removed from the jury picked for the Sheppard murder trial.

Informed sources, however, indicated Manning would be replaced by an alternate juror and the trial would proceed. A declaration of a mistrial was not thought likely.

The controversy swirling about the real estate salesman the past two days has almost overshadowed the real issue in the trial: Did osteopath Samuel H. Sheppard, 30, beat his pregnant wife to death last July 4 after a purported affair with Susan Hayes, a pretty hospital technician?

Yesterday Prosecutor John J. Mahon demanded that Manning be tossed off the jury on grounds he failed to reveal a crime in his background. Defense Atty. William J. Corrigan immediately demanded proof that Manning was a sex offender.

With that, the trial was recessed until tomorrow.

Early November Cold Snap Ices Midwest Areas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

An early November cold snap brought a touch of winter to the Midwest today and put a chill over wide areas of the South and East.

The cold air continued its southward push and edged into the northern sections of Texas, Louisiana and Alabama early today. It was below freezing as far south as northern Oklahoma and southern Missouri.

But it was much colder in the northern Midwest area with readings in the teens or lower over the Dakotas southward into northern Kansas. It was 8 above at Jamestown, N.D., and 9 above at Bemidji, Minn., and Fargo, N.D. Goodland, Kan., shivered in 18 above and it was 23 in Vichy, Mo.

Snow flurries fell from northern Minnesota southward through the western Great Lakes over Illinois and Indiana and into the Ohio Valley. One to two inches of snow covered most of Wisconsin, Michigan and extreme northern sections of Illinois and Indiana.

Golfer's Wife Is Listed as Suicide

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The death of Mrs. Mary von Elm, 46, wife of George von Elm, the golfer who beat Bobby Jones for the national amateur title in 1926, has been listed as suicide by the coroner's office, which said there will be no inquest.

Dr. Frederick Newbarr, county autopsy surgeon, said yesterday she died of nicotine poisoning, Roy A. Ford, 28, von Elm's golf protégé, who had been drinking with Mrs. von Elm and was with her when she died last Wednesday, told police she drank from an insecticide bottle which he tried to knock from her lips.

Ford is held in $3,000 bail on a morals charge filed after Dr. Newbarr said the autopsy showed evidence of sexual perversion.

President Tells Citizens They Can't 'Sit Out'

By JACK BELL

WASHINGTON (AP)—Prodded by President Eisenhower, citizens decide with their ballots today whether Republicans or Democrats should control Congress or divide the two houses between the parties.

Also being elected are governors in 33 states and hundreds of state and local officials.

Eisenhower told fellow Americans last night "there is no such thing as sitting out" the election.

"You inescapably must participate in this decision," the President said in a radio-television broadcast, as Mrs. Eisenhower beamed at his side.

In a positive way, he said, those who go to the polls can vote for the program and the persons they favor. Negatively, those who fail to mark a ballot "double the value of the vote of anyone who does not believe in the things you believe in."

There was no official explanation of the President's remark later to his press secretary, James C. Hagerty: "By golly, sometimes you sure get tired of all this clackety clackety."

Glad Drive Over

Aides said, however, that at the end of dozens of speeches and thousands of miles of travel Eisenhower seemed genuinely glad that the campaign was over.

The voters, who could listen to the candidates or not as they chose seemed on the whole somewhat unexcited by the campaign, which took on increasing bitterness in its closing weeks.

Those who pose as experts forecast that only about 45 million of the approximately 75 million eligible would take the trouble to queue up at the polling places opening as early as 6 a.m. on the Eastern Seaboard and closing as late as 11 p.m. (in comparable time) on the West Coast.

The weather forecast was spotty, calling for rain and snow flurries in the Atlantic Coast area from Virginia northward. Snow was forecast from Buffalo, N.Y., to northeastern Ohio, with flurries in Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin. The rest of the country generally was promised clear skies and moderate temperatures.

With the campaign firing finally stilled last night, Democrats voiced seemingly confident claims they would win control of both houses of Congress. This would give Eisenhower the first opposition-organized Congress since the GOP 60th street Democratic former President Harry S. Truman's wrath after the 1946 elections.

GOP Less Optimistic

Republicans were less optimistic in their forecasts, despite Vice President Nixon's assertion on the same broadcast with the President that the Eisenhower administration had given the country "the best government it has had in my lifetime"—41 years.

Republican National Chairman Leonard W. Hall predicted his party would gain a net of three seats in the Senate, which now is divided 46 Republicans, 46 Democrats and 1 independent, Sen. Wayne Morse of Oregon.

Hall said he thinks the GOP will increase by 15 its holdings in the (Continued on Page 18, Column 2)

Tiny Village in N. Hampshire Gives Democrats Edge

HART'S LOCATION, N. H. (AP)—The first election returns in the nation today gave Democratic candidates a 6-4 edge over Republicans in this tiny mountain village in traditionally Republican New Hampshire.

The polls opened seconds after midnight and closed at 12:09 a.m. after all 10 registered voters cast ballots.

The vote:

Governor: John Shaw (D) 6; Lane Dwinell (R) 4.

U. S. Senate full term: Gerald L. Morin (D) 6; Sen. Bridges (R) 4.

U. S. Senate, unexpired term of the late Sen. Tobey: Stanley J. Betley (D) 6; Rep. Norris Cotton (R) 4.

Hart's Location has not always voted straight Republican but it generally has favored the GOP over Democratic candidates.

Orville Knutson, left, persuaded his cousin, Ernest Knutson, to give himself up early today for the shooting of Fillmore County Deputy Sheriff Walter Kruegel. With Orville, from the left, are his brother, Robert, and Martin Barber and Connie Young, both of Preston, who assisted in the search for the fugitive. Barber and Young went to the Orville Knutson farm to warn Orville of his cousin's escape only a few minutes before Ernest arrived at the farm. (Daily News photo)

Special Issues Up for Decisions In 37 States

WASHINGTON (AP)—A wide range of special issues—from school segregation to social security—face voters today in 37 states.

In addition to selecting senators, representatives and state officers, voters will decide the fate of 232 constitutional amendments, initiative and referendum proposals.

Most involve complex bond issues, tax questions and proposed changes in legislative procedures.

Georgia and Louisiana voters tackle perhaps the most widely watched proposals, designed to avoid mingling of white and Negro children in grade and high schools.

The Supreme Court has ruled public school segregation unconstitutional.

A proposed constitutional amendment in Georgia would authorize the state to advance public funds to private individuals for educational purposes. If approved as expected, this would clear the way for eventual elimination of the Georgia public school system and its replacement by state-supported private schools.

South Carolina took a similar step two years ago by voting to eliminate a state constitutional clause requiring free public schools.

Louisiana voters are expected to approve a proposed constitutional amendment invoking the "state police power" to continue segregated elementary and secondary schools "to promote and protect public health, better education and the peace and good order in the state," and not because of race.

In a showdown, this might pit the 10th Amendment to the U.S. Constitution, which grants powers to the states, against the 14th Amendment, which guarantees equal rights for all citizens.

Mississippi votes on a proposal to require that potential voters be able to read and understand the Constitution. Legislative debate produced the acknowledgment that this is designed to reduce the number of Negro voters.

Both Louisiana and Michigan decide whether to pay special bonuses to Korean War veterans and their dependents.

Michigan also votes on a hotly debated proposal to legalize bingo, under state control, for nonprofit charitable organizations.

Washington state decides whether to ban TV liquor advertising between 8 a.m. and 10 p.m. This is one of several local liquor issues throughout the country.

1956 Presidential Race in Background

WASHINGTON (AP)—Voters in New York and California decide unusually hot governor battles today, with the 1956 presidential campaign in the background.

These two contests dominate races for governorships in 33 South untested.

New York selects a successor to retiring Republican Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, twice GOP presidential candidate, who has held tight control of the governor's mansion for three terms.

Dewey's choice as his GOP heir, Sen. Irving M. Ives, has fought a bitter—and some pollsters say an uphill—battle against Averell Harriman, the Democratic nominee. Harriman, a multimillionaire industrialist, formerly was foreign aid director, secretary of commerce and ambassador to Russia and Great Britain.

In California, Republican Gov. Goodwin J. Knight is making his first effort to win at the polls the office he inherited when Earl Warren resigned after three terms to become chief justice of the United States. Warren won bipartisan support during most of his career as governor.

Knight overwhelmed his Democratic opponent, Richard P. Graves, by a 900,000-two-party plurality in the primary. But he has "run scared" in a two-fisted closing campaign against the former college lecturer.

Because they are such popular states, New York and California together have 77 out of a total of 531 electoral votes for president.

By the same token, they carry great weight at the national nominating conventions of both parties.

The Republicans started the 1954 battle for governorships holding 29 statehouses to 19 for the Democrats. This is the largest GOP advantage since 1930, when the split was exactly the same.

The Democrats picked up a governorship in September when Democrat Edmund S. Muskie defeated Gov. Burton M. Cross in Maine. Muskie takes office in January.

In all, 22 Republican and 11 Democratic governorships are at stake today. Six Republicans and eight Democrats are holdovers.

Lanesboro Man Gives Self Up After Shooting

Officer Wounded While Returning Suspect to Jail

By GORDON HOLTE
Daily News Staff Writer

PRESTON, Minn.—A gun-wielding Lanesboro farmer early today surrendered to Fillmore County authorities, three hours after he shot and seriously wounded a deputy sheriff who held a warrant for his arrest on a charge of threatening another farmer.

While a sheriff's posse fanned out through the nearby rural areas of this community in an intensive search for Deputy Sheriff Walter Kruegel's assailant, 35-year-old Ernest Knutson walked into the sheriff's office here and gave himself up at 12:15 a.m. today.

The Lanesboro bachelor's surrender brought to an unexpected end a manhunt that began shortly after 8:15 p.m. Monday when Kruegel, 55, bleeding from bullet wounds in the abdomen and leg, stumbled into a cafe at the north outskirts of the village and told a waitress that his prisoner had drawn a .22-caliber revolver on him while he was being taken to the Fillmore County jail here.

Rochester hospital attendants reported this morning that Kruegel has a bullet hole in his left leg which is not considered serious but a .22 caliber slug lodged in his abdomen, in the area near his liver, is considered serious.

Questioned on Shooting

The questioning of Knutson on details of the shooting, meanwhile, was being continued this morning by Sheriff Donald L. Cook and Fillmore County Attorney George Frognor.

Credited with the capture of the gunman was the prisoner's cousin, Orville Knutson, operator of a farm three miles north of here to which the fugitive fled on foot after the shooting.

Scarcely 15 minutes after he had been warned by searchers that his cousin, wanted for the assault on the deputy, might be in the vicinity of the farm, Orville Knutson heard a knock on his door and admitted Ernest who sought to enlist his cousin's aid in an escape from the county.

The two men sat in the kitchen of the farm house for nearly an hour until Orville managed to persuade his cousin that it would be advisable for him to give himself up immediately.

From that point on Ernest made no show of resistance while he accompanied Orville and another cousin, Robert Knutson, on the return trip to the jail and gave himself into custody.

Gives Self Up

The end of the chase occurred with dramatic suddenness while more than a dozen Preston residents and law enforcement officers thronged the lobby of the sheriff's office awaiting latest reports on the search Sheriff Cook was pressing in the outlying areas.

There was a knock on the sheriff's door and the bystanders at first paid scant attention as the three men filed into the room.

Suddenly one of the persons in the office half-whispered, "That's him," and pointed to the short (5 feet, 5), stocky (145 pounds) man who trailed his cousins into the room.

Winona County Sheriff George Fort, who with Deputy John F. Jensen had arrived only a few minutes earlier to determine whether any assistance might be given Sheriff Cook and his search party, quickly stepped over to the prisoner, searched him for weapons and removed his personal effects and placed him in custody.

About 1 in 5 Vote Before Noon Here

A generally steady, and in some precincts very heavy, stream of voters went to the 16 polling places in the city of Winona this morning.

A Daily News check between 11:30 a.m. and 12:30 p.m. indicated that about 19 per cent, or 2,307 of the city's 11,670 eligible registered voters, cast ballots in the first five hours the polls were open. The polls will remain open until 8 o'clock tonight.

The weather apparently had little or no effect on the balloting. At 7:30 a.m., the temperature was a chilly 27, but rose to the freezing mark by noon.

Heaviest balloting was reported in the 1st and 2nd wards.

The Chicago & North Western Railway shops on the West End reported the heaviest flow in those wards. An official at the 2nd Ward's 1st precinct said that at times there were voters standing in line waiting to occupy booths.

Comparison by Wards

In the 2nd Ward, where 3,095 are registered, 710, or about 23 per cent, had voted by noon.

In the 1st Ward the noon percentage was 19 per cent, while the 3rd and 4th wards had 17 and 15 per cent respectively.

At least 100 voters had gone to the polls in each of the 16 precincts. A spot check at mid-morning revealed that 14 per cent of the 2nd Ward's 1st precinct voters cast ballots in the first two hours, while the 4th Ward's 1st precinct reported 9 per cent and the 3rd precinct of the 1st Ward and the 1st precinct of the 3rd Ward reported 8 per cent of the registered total at that time.

Officials at most of the polling places commented on the steady flow of voters, with spotty reports of heavy balloting even comparable to the presidential election of Nov. 4, 1952, when 36 per cent (about 4,500) of the city's 12,487 eligible voters had cast ballots by noon.

Heavier Than Primary

In general, the vote today was much heavier than the Sept. 14 primary this year.

As expected in the pre-noon hour balloting, women voters were going to the polls in greater numbers than men. In the 1st precinct of the 1st Ward however, 59 men had voted by noon compared with 41 women.

The 4th precinct of the 4th Ward reported it experienced one of its heaviest mornings, with 100 of the 474 eligible voters casting ballots.

A breakdown of the city's 16 precincts, listing the total eligible registered voters and the vote to noon, is as follows:

Heavy Morning Turnouts in State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Minnesota voters produced heavy morning turnouts in several cities today, despite general cold weather and slippery roads in a few places. Clerks were looking for the vote to far outstrip the primary count.

At St. Cloud, where it was cloudy, the vote was running at least 50 per cent higher than the primary. Of the 15,000 registered voters, about 10,000 were expected to show up at the polls. The weather was described as a "nice fall day," with roads no problem.

Ten per cent of New Ulm's vote was cast by 9:30, indicating a heavy turnout. This early voting included an unusually large number of women.

Catholic morning services accounted for the large early morning showing in some precincts, where churchgoers visited the polls on their way back from services. Voting was reported heavy in the county precincts as well, with weather no factor.

St. Paul's turnout was heavy in the early hours, bringing a forecast of 112,000 votes before the day is out. There were 91,855 ballots cast at the primary. The forecast was based on a test check of 18 precincts around the city. Lines were reported at almost every polling place.

In Minneapolis voters poured to the polls in a steady stream. Several election judges compared the turnout to 1952. An estimated 40,000 voted in the first two hours, unusually heavy. Should the trend continue through the day, almost 200,000 votes would be cast, double the primary output.

Voting was strong in Mankato and North Mankato, with some persons on hand when the polls opened and many later standing in line.

Chinese Reds Stage Second Bombing Attack

TAIPEH, Formosa (AP)—Chinese Reds today delivered the latest blow in the new vest pocket war flaring up around the Nationalist-held Tachen Islands—an afternoon air attack in which four bombs were dropped.

It was noteworthy not because of its size but because it was the second straight day Communist planes have attacked Nationalist territory.

The Red bombers hit Yikiang-shan Island after a pre-dawn Nationalist air raid on Toumen Island. The islands are about five miles apart and lie close to the Chekiang coast, northwest of the Tachens and some north of Formosa.

Press reports said Nationalist warships also hit Toumen today. Communist planes triggered the latest firing in the vest pocket war when they bombed the Tachens Monday.

Peiping Radio said the Red aircraft sent many military targets up in flames and set fire to a warship anchored off the islands. Peiping also said all its planes returned safely despite "thick rings of anti-aircraft fire."

The Nationalists claimed they shot down one of the raiders. The retaliatory Nationalist raid likewise brought out conflicting claims. Peiping said two Nationalist planes were shot down, the Nationalists said all their planes returned safely.

In some ways the exchange of air blows resemble the artillery duels that flared between Red-held Amoy and Nationalist-held Quemoy Islands far to the south. They began Sept. 3 with a big Red bombardment and died out about a month later.

The action around the Tachens is in one respect more serious, because it marks the first time in the long civil war the Reds have used assault planes.

Queen Mother, Mrs. FDR To Renew Acquaintance

HYDE PARK, N.Y. (AP)—Two widows lunch here today just about 15 years after they last got together at Hyde Park. With them then were their husbands, the heads of their respective nations. The women are Queen Mother Elizabeth of Great Britain and Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. The Queen Mother was last at Hyde Park in 1939 when she and King George VI visited President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The Roosevelt mansion, where the King and Queen were entertained, is now a national shrine, but the former President's widow still lives nearby in a cottage on the edge of the Roosevelt estate.

Both Sides Claim Victory in Oregon

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—Both Republicans and Democrats foresaw a tight vote today in Oregon's election fight between Republican Sen. Guy Cordon and his Democratic opponent, author Richard L. Neuberger.

The voters also will fill four seats in the House of Representatives and elect a governor.

The 41-year-old Neuberger, in his attempt to unseat Cordon in the U.S. Senate, campaigned for a return to Democratic hydroelectric power and criticized what he said was Cordon's isolationist voting record.

Cordon, 64, urged support of the Eisenhower administration's partnership program for power development and said Neuberger was associated with "left-wingers."

Two of the contests for the House of Representatives also were expected to be close. They are in the Multnomah County (Portland) and eastern Oregon districts.

Republican Gov. Paul Patterson was expected to defeat his Democratic opponent, Joseph K. Carson, former Portland mayor and one-time member of the Maritime Commission.

Idaho's 'Singing Cowboy Senator' Trying Comeback

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—A former Progressive party vice presidential candidate laid his record on the line today and asked Idaho voters to send him to the U. S. Senate for another six years.

The political comeback attempt of Glen H. Taylor, Idaho's "singing cowboy senator" of the 1940s, has resulted in a vitriolic campaign.

Taylor teamed with Henry Wallace to head the Progressive party ticket in 1948. He lost his bid for Idaho's Democratic Senate nomination in 1950. This time he won the nomination and is now opposed by Sen. Henry C. Dworshak, seeking his first full term after twice filling Senate vacancies.

Democrats also are trying to take one of Idaho's two congressional seats while holding the other. They're shooting at the governorship too, hoping to storm back into power in the state administration after an absence of eight years.

Democratic governor candidate Clark Hamilton, a state senator and storekeeper from Weiser, has endorsed the proposed Federal Hells Canyon Dam on the Snake River, charging that the Idaho Power Co., which has applied for its down dams there, is trying to bottle up the state's natural resources with the connivance of the Republican party.

His Republican opponent, Atty. Gen. Robert E. Smylie, has replied that Hamilton wants to "give away" the water rights of southern Idaho's irrigation farmers.

St. Charles Pastor Going to Fargo, N.D.

ST. CHARLES, Minn.—The Rev. Karl F. Brezenger, pastor of the Berea Moravian congregation here, announced Sunday that he has accepted a call to become pastor of a Moravian congregation at Fargo, N. D. He will terminate his work in St. Charles Jan. 9 and begin in Fargo Jan. 16.

The Rev. Mr. Brezenger has served the Berea congregation since October of 1950, succeeding the Rev. Rudolph Schultze, who moved to Unionville, Mich.

Mothers Agree To Switch Babies

LONDON (AP)—Two young mothers decided Monday night the doctors were right—a hospital had mixed up their baby sons five weeks ago, giving each the other's child.

Mrs. Vera Bowers, 22, and Mrs. Sheila Read, 24, agreed to make permanent the trial baby switch they had arranged for a 24-hour period.

"Both Sheila and I feel as if a ton weight had been lifted from our shoulders," Mrs. Bowers told a reporter.

"We thought the babies might not take to us but they are as bonny and happy as can be."

"Thank God, our days of uncertainty are over," said Mrs. Read. The two families plan a joint christening at which their sons will trade names. Baby John, the one Mrs. Bowers got by mistake, will become Kenneth, the name his own parents picked for their son.

Baby Kenneth, so named by the Reads, will become John.

Van Johnson's Mother Files Suit for Support

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Actor Van Johnson says he is "terribly shocked and hurt" by the suit filed against him Monday by his mother for support.

Mrs. Loretta Neumann asked $900 a month, asserting the actor had promised but failed to support her. She gave her age as over 61. Her complaint said they had differences in 1946 and Johnson agreed to pay her enough money to net $6,500 a year.

Johnson said through a spokesman, "I have always been willing to support my mother although I have never known her as a son has a right to know his mother."

"She has received approximately $70,000 tax free since 1946. I paid the taxes on this amount. She has since been offered a most substantial amount which her attorney refuses to accept."

His attorney, Greg Bautzer, added: "He is willing to pay her a reasonable amount but he cannot afford $200 a week. It must be remembered, too, that she and his father were divorced 32 years ago, when Van was 3 years old. His father brought him up and he did not see his mother until 1946."

Duluth Man Struck by Car Dies of Injuries

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Death of a Duluth man Monday night of injuries suffered earlier carried the state's traffic toll for the year to 528, or 15 less than at this time a year ago.

The victim was Gustaf A. Lueck, 73, struck down a week ago as he crossed Highway 61. George E. Mathieson, 20, the driver, was not held.

The State Highway Department reported today that 69 fatalities on Minnesota roads in October made it the worst month so far this year and 13 above 1953 figures.

The month's toll also included the year's worst accident—death of six high school students in a car-train crash near St. Cloud. Four other multiple-death mishaps claimed another 10 victims.

The department said the jump in deaths reversed a downward trend that had ruled the figures for four months, since June, and all but wiped out gains made in September, when fatalities were 32 below those in 1953.

Records show that 89 pedestrians were killed in the first 10 months compared with 115 in the same period last year.

Film Lecture Set at Ettrick

ETTRICK, Wis. (Special)—The second in a series of four lecture courses sponsored by the Ettrick Parent-Teacher Association, will be presented Nov. 10, at the Ettrick Community Hall.

A film-lecture will be given by "Tex" Zeigler, an ex-serviceman with 100 per cent disability, purchased a war surplus plane and went to Alaska to prospect for gold. He financed his passage by washing windows and painting scenes on mirrors. At Igloo, Alaska, 90 miles north of Nome, he exchanged his plane for a trading post.

Zeigler built up his business by making long trips with a dog team and sled. Later he purchased another plane, and became known to the Eskimos as the "flying trader."

His experiences include narrow escapes in plane crashes, and being lost for 22 days with a group of eight Eskimos in Bering Strait ice floes on a walrus hunting expedition. More recently Zeigler has taken on the role of guide for hunters and camera men.

Betty Hutton's Choice Files Divorce Suit

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The man expected to be Betty Hutton's next husband filed suit yesterday for divorce from his present wife.

Alan W. Livingston, record com-

Seeing Is Believing, But Who'll Name Them?

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—B. K. Bloomfield is faced with the problem of naming his four new pets. Doesn't sound like a tough ordeal, but he says they look like fish, have feet, legs and small red whiskers. He caught them out of a farm pond. They weigh about a pound apiece, and when taken out of the water, he says they make a small barking noise.

Golf Course Committee to Continue Work

City Council Asks Estimate on Possible Revenue

The golf course committee, reporting to the City Council Monday evening on a golf architect's view of the Lake Winona site, was authorized to continue its work.

Specifically, the aldermen asked the committee to secure an estimate on the possible revenue from the present Westfield Golf Course as sites for homes. Chairman of the committee is C. A. Choate, president of the Westfield Golf Club, with 2nd Ward Ald. William S. L. Christensen of the City Council, Engineer W. O. Cribbs, Park-Recreation Director M. J. Bambenek, Robert Selover of the Association of Commerce, and Park Commissioner Dr. C. A. Rohrer as members.

Choate reported to the Council that Robert B. Harris, Chicago, had told the committee last week that a course could be built on the east and south shores of the lake for as little as $50,000 but recommended an expenditure of about $75,000. That would include large trees and greens, considered advisable on a public golf course with a large play.

Hope of the city is that revenue from the sale of lots at Westfield could come near balancing out the cost of the new golf course.

May Make Profit

Ald. Christensen pointed out that development of the site as a golf course would relieve the Park-Recreation board of the maintenance of a considerable area. He also noted that Harris advised the committee that a golf course in this location should be self-supporting and might even make a profit.

Mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer added that another advantage of the switch would be to place the Westfield area on the tax rolls.

By the Nov. 15 meeting the city engineer is to have a rough plan of Westfield available. First Ward Ald. R. K. Ellings repeated a statement he made several months ago that one man has told him he would be interested in buying all of Westfield if it becomes available for home building.

Fred Daleska, at his request, was given another 1-year permit to store concrete blocks on his lot 4, Lakeside Outlets. The period extends to Oct. 5, 1935.

Permission was given the Pfeiffer Nursery to fumigate its warehouse at Gilmore avenue and Orrin street and a root cellar at 1873 Gilmore Ave. A license will be required of the fumigators.

When no one appeared at the hearing on the confirmation of the assessment roll for the downtown mercury vapor light installation, the roll was approved. Property owners have 10 years to pay, with the interest rate at 3 per cent on the unpaid balance. Owners and the city share equally in the cost. One-half is $15,359.11.

The Mississippi Valley Public Service Co. is paying what would be the federal government's share of the cost for the installation at the post office.

Estimate Approved

Approved was the final estimate of the H. J. Dunn Blacktop Construction Co. for a crushing rock base on streets and parking lots at the Arthur C. Thuley Homes. Amount of the estimate is $872.

Another estimate ordered paid was that of Harry G. Viner Construction Co., La Crosse, storm sewer contractor for a project in 2nd street from Harriet to Olmstead streets. The amount is $6,799.96.

In that connection, City Engineer W. O. Cribbs recommended that the specifications of the job be changed to permit use of precast manholes and catch basins. Specifications provided brick, but Cribbs said that the contractor has been unable to obtain the services of a competent bricklayer at this time.

Payrolls approved were distributed as follows: Streets, $2,797.24; ditch cleaning, $232; meter collection, $12; treatment plant, $415.80; and engineering, $22.71. Bills approved amounting to $221,701.65. Judges and clerks in today's election — five in each precinct — were authorized $18 each for the day's work.

Mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer was authorized expenses to attend a meeting of the Minnesota Association of Mayors in Minneapolis Friday.

The Council scheduled a hearing for Nov. 15 on the petition of Nick Deanes, owner of a fractional part of lots 9 and 10 in block 8, Clark and Johnson's Addition, and Charles R. Allen, lots 3 and 4, block 8, for rezoning from class A residential to commercial. This is at the intersection of Maclean street and the new route of Highway 61.

Approved, with the verbal approval of the city engineer and the building inspector, was the petition of Lambert Styba, 550 E. Howard St., to violate lot line restrictions under the zoning ordinance in construction of an attached garage. One neighbor, Edwin J. Janikowski, 558 E. Howard St., had given written approval.

Petition Held Over

Held over for investigation by the building inspector was the petition of Ernest Fabian, 629 Washington St., to build an attached garage in violation of the lot line restrictions. Mrs. Jennie Staudacher, a neighbor, has given written approval.

Toys Plumbing & Heating Supply Co. was given permission to install two 275-gallon fuel oil tanks at the Arlington Club and

Carpenter Named To Housing Authority

Roy K. Carpenter

Mayor Loyde E. Pfeiffer Monday appointed Roy K. Carpenter, 458 Main St., to a 5-year term on the Winona Housing & Redevelopment Authority.

Carpenter's appointment was confirmed in the evening by the City Council.

This will be Carpenter's second period of service, although the first time was for a short period. Last year he was acting city treasurer for about 10 days between the suspension of Otto P. Pietsch and the appointment of Oke Hultkrantz.

The new housing commissioner is a retired employee of Standard Oil Co. He was chief clerk at the pipeline terminal at Spring Valley when he retired in 1931. Previously he was superintendent of the river terminal here.

Since his retirement he has been active particularly in safety work. At present he is president of the Automobile Club Safety Council of Winona, treasurer of the Izaak Walton League, a director of AAA and on its membership committee and is a member of the Winona Rifle Club.

Other members of the authority are Arthur L. Kitt, C. Paul Venables, William J. Thurow and Frank Cunningham.

Meanwhile, the authority filed its quarterly financial report with the City Council.

In its statement of development cost—preliminary loan period—the authority listed total expenditures of $1,633,021.75. Overhead — $27,264.59, including major figures of $15,160.88, non-technical salaries and wages; $2,414.30, technical salaries and wages; $3,723.75, legal expense, and $4,592.37, sundry; interest — $38,956.18, including $16,684.87, interest to PHA; $4,134.05, interest on notes, non-PHA, and $18,137.26, interest on bonds; initial operating deficit — $5,440.02; planning — $38,392.73, including $39,034.81, architectural and engineering fees, $39,034.81; inspection costs, $11,662.73; fee for PHA services, $5,195, and housing surveys, $2,639.77.

Site improvement and dwelling structures and equipment — $37,336.49, including dwelling equipment, non-expendable, $32,367.04; $4,727.05, dwelling structures; $1,460,810.88, contract work in progress, and $1,894.35, office furniture and equipment.

Assets include $44,609.24, PHA annual contributions, and liabilities include $1,635,000 in bonds less $3,000 in bonds retired and $19,620.26 in interest payable.

A one-half homestead classification was granted to Elsie E. Kurzweg, 218 W. Howard St., with an assessed valuation decrease from $1,310 to $1,055.

County physician Dr. W. O. Finkelnburg reported that no calls were made at the county jail during October.

A former resident of Winona, Kerlin M. Seitz, now residing at 816 S. 104th St., West Allis, Wis., was allowed a reduction in his total personal property tax bill for 1934. Seitz moved away from Winona in August of 1933 before his personal property tax bill was made public and later was assessed an $11.70 bill plus a penalty fee of $6.44. His petition that the penalty fee be disallowed was granted.

Other municipalities are receiving the same proposal.

Burglars Enter 4 Businesses In Fillmore Co.

PRESTON, Minn. (Special) — Burglars entered four Fillmore County business places early today and took less than $100 in cash, according to early reports.

Entered were the Mabel Motor Sales, where a few dollars in change was taken from the cash register; Shell Service Station, Canton, $25-$30 cash and candy bars, and Leland Moore Service Station and Edge Implement Co., Harmony, $35 cash.

Constables in the three towns stated today that entry was made by breaking glass and turning doorknobs from the inside or by prying a door with a small bar or screwdriver. All of the burglaries took place after 1 a.m.

Outside of an attempt to enter the safe at the Mabel garage, no damage was done other than entering the buildings. No accessories were taken according to authorities.

Sheriff Donald Cook is investigating.

At Mabel, Fred Miner, village policeman, reported that the front door of the motor sales company was pried open, the cash register rifled of change and a handle on the safe smashed with a heavy object, probably a hammer. The safe was not opened. No estimate of the amount taken was available.

Night policeman Edwin Peterson went off duty at 3:30 a.m.

Frank Brink, Canton marshal, reported that the Pat Cadwell and Cletus Hostin service station was entered by breaking a window in a garage door and turning the knob from the inside. From $25 to $30 in small change was taken from a cash register, pop machine and pinball game. A few candy bars and also were missing. He estimates that the burglary took place after midnight as a bulk transport was being unloaded there until that time.

The front door of the Leland Moore service station, Harmony, was pried open and $28 in cash pilfered from a cash register and pop machine; Harry Wahl, policeman, went off duty at 1 a.m. and believes entry was after that time.

The implement company, owned by Wendell Boice, lost $7 from the cash register and an undetermined amount from a pop machine. The back door was pried open.

Assets include $44,609.24, PHA annual contributions, and liabilities include $1,635,000 in bonds less $3,000 in bonds retired and $19,620.26 in interest payable.

First Storm Dumps 12 Inches of Snow In Parts of State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The season's first storm dumped up to 12 inches of snow in sections of northeastern Minnesota Monday night, with that portion of the state taking the brunt of the storm's fury.

All but the extreme western part of Minnesota received some snow. The State Highway Department was swamped with requests to clear roads blocked by drifts up to 18 inches deep in Lake, Cook and St. Louis counties.

Highways around the state were icy. Driving was extremely dangerous and in many cases almost impossible on hills and curves.

The rush hour traffic tieup in the Twin Cities loops Monday was reported to be the worst on record, with many cars stalled and much fender denting.

At noon today, the highway department reported roads in good condition around the state, with the exception of the Duluth-Virginia region, where they remained slippery.

Improvement was reported on roads south of Duluth to Pine City.

A break-in at the East Recreation Center was being investigated by police today. The city park-recreation office reported that the recreation building was entered sometime after 10 p.m. Monday and a gum vending machine was broken.

Firemen were called at 3:07 p.m. Monday when an oil burner flared at the Maynard Whetstone residence, 270 W. Bellevue St.

E. Sarnia Garden Area Not Marked For Park System

Maintenance Plan Will Include Planting of Grass

The Park-Recreation Board "never had any thought" of extending the park system to include the garden area along East Sarnia street, President C. W. Siebrecht told the City Council Monday evening.

"What we propose along there is maintenance," Siebrecht told the aldermen who had advised the board that the park system must not be extended during the next fiscal year after cutting $10,000 off its budget.

The president explained that by maintenance he means a "planting."

"That's the only way you can control it," he added.

The board, it was noted, has permitted private gardening there as a cheap control method for the area. Working of the land, it was reasoned, would keep down growth of weeds and the more obnoxious willows.

However, Siebrecht said that only a "few" gardeners do a good job. Part of the area, particularly near the lake, is becoming overgrown. He said that it is expensive to remove this growth of willows, and indicated that the board feels it would be cheaper to seed the area down to grass.

Siebrecht estimated next year's cost of this kind of maintenance at $2,000.

(When the board adopted its 1935-36 budget late last summer, it was about $20,000 over the estimate for the current year. The Daily News, reporting the budget meeting, said that the hike was because of increased maintenance costs, including extension of the park system to the 40 acres along East Sarnia street.)

Equipment Needed

The board president said that the department needs additional equipment regardless of the action on Sarnia street. One piece will cost about $3,200, he said.

As for its $40,000 surplus—but of which the Council wants the board to use $20,000 next year — part of the surplus is earmarked for improvement of the Lake Park pavilion, Siebrecht said.

Upshot of the brief discussion was a decision to ask M. J. Bambenek, park-recreation director, to secure an estimate on the cost of seeding to grass the garden area and maintaining it.

Those other matters were discussed by the board and the Council: Grass for the Gabrych Park infield, lights for the Huff street dike road and a municipal parking lot in Levee Park.

PARKING LOT—The board prefers a test development to determine whether there actually is a demand for parking there. Specifically, it wants one-fourth of the four-block area developed first, that is the south side of the two blocks from Center street east to Walnut street.

City Engineer W. O. Cribbs presented a map and cost estimates. The 700 feet east of Center street, using two lanes of right angle parking, would accommodate 153 cars, and the 735 feet west of Center street 163 cars.

Estimated cost is about $20,500 for each: $126 a parking space in the west part; $136 a space in the east part. The estimate includes blacktop surfacing, walks and mercury vapor lighting.

Two lanes would require a 75-foot strip along the four blocks, including walks, the parking space and a 30-foot driveway.

Aldermen agreed to the board's proposal first to develop space for one row of cars along the south side of the park from Center street east. That will require 52½ feet, Cribbs indicated.

An Association of Commerce survey had indicated a greater need in the west part. However, Commissioner C. A. Rohrer suggested that development of the courthouse parking lot may relieve parking in that area somewhat.

Members of the board said that if this first area is used, other areas of the park could be converted to parking space later.

HUFF STREET LIGHTS — 1st Ward Ald. K. Ellings, chairman of the lighting committee, said that the Mississippi Valley Public Service Co., has a proposal for the board to consider relative to a new lighting system along the dike. Present lights are broken within a few weeks after installation and the board has virtually given up trying to maintain lights along the dike and in Lake Park because of this persistent vandalism.

SIEBRECHT PARK GRASS—President Siebrecht said that he doesn't believe that the board's organized programs—such as mowing a base ball—would cause much damage to a grass infield, but informal play in the park might. The park is never locked; it is impossible to do so.

A grass infield has been asked by the Winona Baseball Association. All other parks in the Southern Minny have a grass infield.

Members of the board indicated that if the Council wants to finance the grass infield, through the Park-Recreation Board, it must be understood that there is a possibility of damage to the field through organized and unorganized play.

Director Bambenek is to prepare a cost estimate.

Present from the board were Commissioners Siebrecht, Rohrer, Lambert Kowalewski, A. J. Gesell and J. M. George and Director Bambenek.

Fillmore County Sheriff Donald L. Cook, left, led an intensive search for Ernest Knutson, center, after the latter shot and wounded a deputy sheriff Monday evening. Sheriff Cook was pressing the search through the rural areas near Preston when radio that Knutson had been found and the remainder of the search party was called back into Preston.

Knutson gave himself up shortly after midnight today. At the right is the fugitive's cousin, Orville Knutson, who persuaded the prisoner to surrender. (Daily News photo)

While he awaited the arrival of Sheriff Cook, Knutson, who has a ruddy complexion and blond, thinning hair, spoke with a steady voice and little show of emotion regarding the shooting.

Face Bloody

His face bloody from a laceration he said he believed was suffered when he climbed through a fence during his flight from the shooting scene, Knutson explained that he drew the gun while he was protesting his arrest by the deputy during the drive from Fountain, Minn., to the Preston jail.

Containing that Kruegel — whom he had known for many years — "should have given me a break," Knutson said that after he showed the revolver the deputy reached for it, the two men grappled in the moving car and the revolver was discharged three times. Only two of the shots struck the officer, however.

Recent trouble between Knutson and another area farmer, Velus Torgerson, touched off a series of events that culminated in Monday evening's shooting of Kruegel.

Sheriff Cook said that in recent months Knutson on several occasions had been an unwelcome visitor at the Torgerson farm north of here where he sought to see one of Torgerson's daughters.

When Torgerson sought to restrain the Lanesboro man from coming to the farm, Sheriff Cook explained, Knutson was quoted as having made threats to Torgerson.

Issues Complaint

Sunday night another similar incident developed at the farm, the sheriff said, and Monday morning Torgerson came to Preston and swore out a complaint charging Knutson with making threats to do bodily harm against him and with carrying two pistols.

Sometime after the warrant had been issued, Kruegel, who has been employed in the sheriff's office for the past five years — drove to Red Wing.

Acquainted with Knutson since before he joined the sheriff's office, Kruegel reportedly decided on the return trip from Red Wing to stop in Fountain, about four miles northwest of here, and, if he encountered Knutson, to serve the warrant on him.

The deputy met Knutson and the two got into Kruegel's car for the drive to Preston.

This is the way that Knutson described the events that followed:

"I wanted him to stop," the prisoner told Sheriff Fort during questioning at the jail. "I told him I wanted him to stop and he wouldn't do it but just kept on driving."

Asked whether Kruegel had any warning of the shooting that was to occur, Knutson explained that he saw Knutson walking toward a wooded hill a short time after the shooting.

The fugitive was recognized by his slight shuffle when he walks. The shooting actually came to the attention of authorities, however, when Kruegel slid off the hood of his car and staggered toward the Highway Grocery near where he parked.

The wounded deputy, clutching at his stomach, managed to open the door of the car and then slumped to the floor.

An employee at the combination confectionery and grocery, 14-year-old Janet Yaste, watched the deputy as he fell to the floor and then went to his side.

Kruegel instructed the teenager to call the sheriff's office and notify them of the shooting.

Search Begins

Janet called the sheriff and a physician who went to the shooting scene and administered aid to the deputy until an ambulance arrived. The physician accompanied Kruegel to the Rochester hospital.

The search for the fugitive began as soon as Sheriff Cook received word of the shooting.

Within a few minutes law enforcement authorities throughout Southeastern Minnesota, Western Wisconsin and northern Iowa were alerted by radio to be on the look-out for the possible appearance of Knutson.

The Minnesota Highway Patrol heard the alarm and within a short time alert cars manned by patrol-period of acquaintanceship and replied, "Yes, he was really pretty nice to me."

Dressed only in a light jersey shirt which he wore over a cotton T-shirt, blue overall pants and worn shoes, Knutson walked through fields for a distance of between three and four miles to his cousin's farm.

Waits in Pasture

Chilled by temperatures in the low 20's, Knutson said that he waited in a pasture near the farm for some time before he went to the door.

While the fugitive waited in the field he watched as two volunteers — Martin Barber and Connie Young, both of Preston — came to the Orville Knutson home and warned the farmer that his cousin was still at large.

Earlier, other members of the searching party had gone to the Torgerson home and told him of the shooting. Torgerson and his children left the house immediately and went to a neighbor's home to await further developments in the case.

After Barber and Young had left the Orville Knutson farm, Ernest went to the house and asked for admittance.

"They'd just told me about the shooting," Orville Knutson related, "so when he came to the door I kind of wondered what I should do. I made sure that he still wasn't carrying any guns and then I let him in."

Orville said that his cousin told him without hesitation the details of the shooting and then sought to enlist his aid in an escape attempt.

"I didn't even know he was on the place until he came to the door," Orville said, "but when he came in he wanted to talk."

"When he started out he wanted to have me help him get out of the county," Orville said, adding that his cousin, after being refused active assistance in the flight, then asked whether he could use Orville's car for the proposed trip out of the Preston area.

"We sat down then and I told him there was no use running away," Orville continued, "and I kept telling him that they'd catch up with him sooner or later anyway."

Agrees to Surrender

"We sat there for I'll bet an hour or more," Orville said. "I guess that it must have been a long time after 10 when he came in. We had some coffee and a little lunch and I kept telling him there was no use in trying to run away."

After an extended discussion of the situation, Orville said, his cousin finally agreed that it would be better to surrender and consented to Orville's proposal that they drive immediately to the county jail.

There were several persons living near the north edge of the village who reported that they heard the revolver fired at about 8:15 p.m. At least one said that he saw Knutson walking toward a wooded hill a short time after the shooting.

The fugitive was recognized by his slight shuffle when he walks. The shooting actually came to the attention of authorities, however, when Kruegel slid off the hood of his car and staggered toward the Highway Grocery near where he parked.

Mabel Man Loses Hand in Picker

MABEL, Minn. (Special) — Orville Anderson, 37, lost his right hand in a cornpicker accident Monday.

The father of four children, he was injured at about 6 p.m. while working on the Clifford Hoff farm eight miles north of here on Highway 43.

He was treated by a Mabel physician and taken to a Rochester hospital where the arm was amputated below the elbow. The third finger of his left hand was severely cut. Anderson farms near the Hoff place. He is in satisfactory condition.

Signal Wouldn't Replace Patrolman At Orrin Crossing

Even if a school crossing signal is installed near Orrin street on Highway 61, a uniformed policeman or a school patrol boy would need to be stationed there during its use.

That is the view of the Minnesota Department of Highways, as reported by City Engineer W. O. Cribbs to the City Council Monday evening.

Consolidation Of 3 School Districts Voted

Consolidation measures for three more school districts were approved and two others were granted December hearing dates by commissioners, as the Winona County Board met in opening day of its November session Monday afternoon.

Those affected Monday included:

- District 33 in Wabasha County was dissolved and attached to the independent consolidated district at Plainview.
- A petition from Alfred J. Drenekahn to have his land in district 82, Wabasha County, set off and consolidated with the independent consolidated district at Plainview was approved without opposition.

Part of district 79 in Houston County was dissolved and attached to Fillmore County district 16 at Rushford. All three consolidation measures were unopposed.

Gordon Fay, county highway engineer, following authorization by commissioners Monday, will attend the 10th annual meeting of the County Engineers Institute December 6-9. Sessions will be held at the University of Minnesota's center for continuation study.

August C. Mussell petitioned the board to have his land in district 59, Wabasha County, set off and consolidated with the independent consolidated district at Plainview. Commissioners authorized a hearing for December 6 at 2 p.m.

A second hearing date was granted to Earl Jacob, Whitewater Township, who asks that his land in district 50, Winona County, be set off and joined to the Plainview district. He will appear before the county board December 6 at 2:30 p.m.

A total of $153.70 in warrants against county funds was canceled by a board resolution. The money, involving three issuances, has been out for more than seven years without being presented for payment and was canceled to facilitate clearance of county records.

Warrants canceled by commissioners were:

- On the road and bridge fund, September 18, 1947, for $59.20, in favor of W. K. Beach.
- On the revenue fund, May 1, 1947, for $4.50, in favor of Clinton Dabelstein.
- On the revenue fund, September 18, 1947, for $90, in favor of W. K. Beach.

In final action Monday, commissioners received and approved monthly reports from Buena Vista Sanatorium, county extension agent and the county nurse. Winona County's share of September expenses at Buena Vista was $747.02. The county has four patients at the sanatorium at the present time.

U. S. Senators were elected by state legislatures until 1913 when the 17th Constitutional amendment was ratified.

Arm Around Wife? Improbable, Says Judge

DENVER (A-Murel L. Webster, 30, denied a police charge yesterday that he drove at 50 miles an hour across the 16th Street viaduct with one arm around a woman.

Webster told Municipal Judge J. Joe Rawlinson his companion was his wife and it "is not logical" that a man would drive through town with his arm around his own wife.

Judge Rawlinson agreed and dismissed a charge of careless driving.

Key Race in Massachusetts

BOSTON (A)—The bid of Sen. Leverett Saltonstall (R-Mass) for re-election is one of today's key contests in the Republican fight to retain control of the U. S. Senate.

Saltonstall is opposed by State Treasurer Foster Furcolo, a former member of the U. S. House, who is regarded as the strongest contender Saltonstall has faced since he won the Senate seat in 1944.

Republican Gov. Christian A. Herter is in an equally tight race for a second term. The Democratic nominee for governor is State Rep. Robert L. Murphy, his party's legislative floor leader for the last six years.

Along with those close contests, the result is in doubt in the campaigns of three members of the U. S. House — two Republicans and a Democrat — for re-election.

House Speaker Martin (R-Mass) is running for his 16th term in Congress. His Democratic opponent is Edward F. Doolan, whom Martin defeated by 45,000 votes two years ago.

Quartet Stages Nationwide Spree With Stolen Checks

ST. PAUL (A)—Federal agents said today four persons suspected of stealing a quantity of check blanks from a New Brighton firm are accused of staging a nationwide check-cashing spree.

Harold Everts, assistant U. S. district attorney, said that a woman, Helen Thompson, 32, East St. Louis, Ill., is held in jail here on charges of carrying the stolen checks in interstate commerce.

Everts identified the others involved as Conway Huffman, Venice, Ill.; Bobby Carmack, East St. Louis; and Milton H. Shene, 34, former St. Clair (Ill.) deputy sheriff.

The government charges the four broke into the offices of the Dairy Transit Co. of New Brighton the night of last July 14 and stole 450 blank checks along with the company's check protector. Everts said the quartet then spread across the country, cashing the spurious checks in various localities.

Bad Weather Cuts Election Chances, Claim

MILWAUKEE (A)—Wisconsin voters went to the polls in a general election with both Republicans and Democrats predicting that bad weather following the first statewide snow fall of the season would hurt their chances.

Voters will select a full slate of state officers—governor, lieutenant governor, attorney general, secretary of state and state treasurer; ten U. S. congressmen, state senators and assemblymen, and local and county officers.

Democrats fear the farm vote which they counted on to support their candidates, might be reduced by the snow and cold weather. Republicans as well looked to the farms for support and feared the results of a reduced rural vote.

Urged on by their success in the September primary, Democrats hope to take over the state administration and add to their number in the House of Representatives.

The Democrats polled 40 per cent of the total vote in the primary—their largest share in more than 20 years, and their success sparked their campaigning in the general election. The GOP discounted the Democratic vote in the primary, saying it was due to the contest for the governor nomination between William Proxmire and James Doyle, while Republican Gov. Kohler was unopposed.

The campaign between Proxmire, who won the Democratic nod, and Kohler grew hotter as election day approached. Proxmire, trying for the second time to unseat Kohler, charged the GOP with rushing the state into a financial crisis by spending beyond its income. Proxmire charged also the GOP ignored the needs of public schools and is doing nothing to aid the dairy farmer who lost income when dairy support prices were reduced under a federal order last spring.

Kohler, seeking his third term, accused Proxmire of deliberate misrepresentation of state finances and stating half truths about schools. In a countercharge he declared the administration has spent millions in recent years on new buildings at state institutions and on schools and has reduced taxes.

The governorship campaign boiled over several days ago when Kohler declared Proxmire was guilty of a "deliberate hoax" in reporting the income of a Stoughton dairy farmer. Proxmire countered that Kohler himself had withheld facts in the case.

In addition to candidates voters were given a chance to vote on TV. A referendum question asks residents if they want a state-owned, tax-supported educational television network. Speech making and debate on the question has made it more than a minor issue. Another referendum is on the question of whether persons living in the state for less than one year should be allowed to vote for presidential election.

In the race for Lieutenant governor State Sen. Warren Knowles of New Richmond faces Edwin Larkin, Democrat from Milwaukee. Atty. Gen. Vernon Thomson of Richland Center is opposed by Democrat Frank Nikolay of Madison. Fred Zimmerman, the GOP's leading vote getter and veteran secretary of state is opposed by Marguerite Benson, and Republican Smith, the state treasurer, runs against Oscar Jonas.

Weather May Cut N.Y. Vote

NEW YORK (A)—The people of New York are choosing today between Sen. Irving M. Ives, Republican, and Averell Harriman, Democratic-Liberal, to succeed Gov. Thomas E. Dewey.

Inclement weather, with possible snow, was forecast in normally Republican upstate New York.

From 5 to 5½ million citizens are expected to turn out. Voting machines are being used throughout the state. The polling hours are from 8 a.m. to 7 p.m.

Dewey, twice the GOP presidential nominee, did not seek re-election.

Ives, author of antidiscrimination legislation, is a firm supporter of President Eisenhower.

Harriman hews to the philosophy of the New Deal and "Fair Deal" in which he held high posts such as ambassador to Moscow and secretary of commerce.

Statewide newspaper polls have indicated a victory for Harriman.

Censure Session May Branch Into Other Topics

McCarthy censure will be the big issue facing the Senate when it reconvenes Nov. 8, but the lawmakers may go on to discuss and possibly act on other unrelated issues before final adjournment.

According to the report of the Select Committee which studied the charges against Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy (R-Wis.), one or more resolutions may be considered to give effect to its censure recommendations. Parliamentary experts say the Senate, if it has a mind to, may also consider:

Simple Resolutions — Ten, covering such subjects as auto bootlegging and limits on Senate debate, were pending when the Senate recessed Aug. 20. In addition, the censure committee recommended adoption of a resolution creating a "Code for Probes."

Treaties — Of those submitted to the 83rd Congress, seven were pending. The Southeast Asia Collective Defense Treaty and the Paris agreements calling for rearmament of West Germany have not been submitted to the Senate, and there is no indication when they will be.

Presidential Nominations — A Senate rule requires that pending nominations be returned to the President if the Senate adjourns or recesses for more than 30 days. Some 696 were sent back to the White House in August and must be resubmitted before the Senate can act. Of these, 559 were military appointments, 131 were to postmasterships, and six were to other civilian posts. In addition, between Aug. 20 and Oct. 19, Mr. Eisenhower made 164 recess appointments subject to Senate confirmation and, since precedent was lacking for the current Senate "holiday," the attorney general has been asked to rule on the status of these appointments. Probably the top nomination which the Senate might consider — if it is submitted — would be that of a successor to the late Supreme Court Associate Justice Robert H. Jackson.

Custom, practice and rules interpretation would bar "legislative action" — that is, Senate action on bills, joint resolutions or concurrent resolutions requiring approval by the House of Representatives — since the House will not be in session.

Senate Majority Leader William F. Knowland (R-Calif.) has said he favors a relatively short session confined to the censure issue. But the Senate makes its own rules and can do virtually what it pleases.

The Senate will convene just six days after the general election, and lawmakers may be drawn into debate on foreign or farm policy, federal housing irregularities, drought in the Southwest, the proposed Dixon-Yates contract to supply private power in the Tennessee Valley Authority area, or other political issues. Conceivably, the Senate could act on resolutions pertaining to some of these topics.

One of the pending resolutions would authorize payment to the Government Operations Committee for the cost of the Army-McCarthy hearings. An amendment proposed would require the committee to comply with the new rules before it could get money for its investigations.

The censure committee also proposed a rules change aimed at tightening congressional investigative procedure. The group recommended that its amendment be approved by the Senate "to be effective Jan. 3, 1955."

Two of the pending resolutions would change the Senate's cloture rule to make it easier to limit debate. Another resolution would ask Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson to speed up relief to farmers and cattlemen in drought-stricken areas. Others called for investigations of auto bootlegging and antitrust laws.

The Paris agreements for rearming West Germany and admitting her to the European defense system, State Department specialists said, probably will require some Senate action. They were unable to say, however, if the pact would be presented for Senate ratification in November or after the 84th Congress convenes in January.

The Southeast Asia Defense Treaty has been signed, and, unless mechanical adjustments still to be made, interfere, the pact would be in shape for submission to the Senate at the November meeting, if the State Department wants immediate action on it.

Since none of the seven treaties submitted by President Eisenhower requires immediate action, consideration on them could be delayed until the 84th Congress. Treaties do not die at the end of the Congress in which they were submitted; many have been pending for years. For example, 25 that were submitted between 1946 and 1952 are still on the calendar.

European Community May Withstand Reds

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY
NEW YORK — If western Europe can find a way to a voluntary community of nations, it may be possible to build a force capable of withstanding the Communist menace. Many efforts have been made in European history to achieve such a union by coercion, by wars, and by the numerous agreements that follow wars. To succeed, however, surely in our era, such a union must be voluntary and must be based on acknowledged self-interest.

Most of the first steps in this direction have failed, but the comparative success of the European Community for coal and steel can give hope that something substantial may be achieved in other fields until western Europe has found a workable formula which limits sovereignty in particular instances while not violating nationalistic pride in general. The difficulties are stupendous but in the face of the Russian menace, they ought not to be insuperable. Fear can accomplish much when it is real and while many Europeans underestimate the Russians on the assumption that the United States will always defend Europe, most of them know what Communist infiltration has done in their countries.

THE EUROPEAN COMMUNITY for coal and steel is, in effect, a government, operating with federal powers on behalf of Belgium, France, West Germany, Italy, Luxembourg and the Netherlands. It might be recalled that the Belgian relief, which Herbert Hoover operated during World War I, was permitted many privileges of a separate government until the United States entered the war, but that was a matter of convenience, not a voluntary decision to solve the basic economic problem of about 160,000,000 people, which is what the European Community involves.

This European Community, which grew out of the Schuman Plan, operates within its particular jurisdiction with sovereign powers, including executive, legislative and judicial branches. It crosses national boundaries as though they did not exist. Limited to coal, iron and steel at present, its organization could be expanded and its method applied to other commodities and even to other problems. If the plan can work for coal and steel, why not for electrification or communications? Why not in many non-political fields?

Western Europe is an area of comparatively small countries which now face mass populations in the United States and the Soviet Union. State, which includes China and may, someday, include India by cordial affiliation. While the size of population is not the sole criterion upon which to base a judgment as to the strength of an area, the rapidity of industrialization in the Soviet Union must be considered as altering the world economic position of Western Europe. Russia now produces about 38,000,000 tons of steel a year, a figure that is enormous by European standards. Coolies can be taught to operate modern, automatic machinery as competently as highly-skilled handicraftsmen, whose skills are lost in the battle with precision machinery. The machine has, in fact, altered the relationship between exporting and importing countries.

IN THE STRUGGLE FOR survival, the European nations will be forced to reconsider their positions in a world where the Flemish weaver's wares are only for luxuries because the spindle and the loom can turn out goods anywhere, attended by almost anyone, at varying labor costs. Years ago, Manchester ceased to be a match for Osaka, and now every country seeks industrialization, the Egypt of Nasser, I presume, planning to surround the pyramids with cotton mills. While certain countries continue to specialize, the fact that once machines are available anything can be made anywhere cannot be ignored.

West Europe can become an industrial entity of 160,000,000 people, without customs barriers and varieties of money, without import and export quotas, it could develop the industrial capacity and the purchasing power of the United States. The European community for coal and steel is a first fairly successful step in that direction. It will be watched with the greatest interest, because its success could mean a strengthening of our own country in its struggle against the Soviet Union. Whatever is done, in the diplomatic or economic fields, to lessen nationalistic tensions or to overcome historic prejudices which, if they ever served, no longer have any virtue, must be regarded as a tremendous step forward. Such a union as the European Community may even lower our bill for European aid.

Balloting Will Answer 3 Important Questions

By DREW PEARSON
WASHINGTON — No matter what the outcome of today's balloting, it will probably decide three important and intriguing political questions. They are:

1. Will President Eisenhower run for a second term?
2. Will young Dick Nixon, 41 years old, who has managed to worm himself into a position of power and influence despite that $128,000 private expense fund which two years ago almost threw him off the ticket, be the man to succeed him?
3. Will the Republican party be able to continue using McCarthy's type of politics without using McCarthy? Particularly, will the Republicans be able to swing the large bloc of Catholic voters, normally Democratic, over to the GOP, without using the now benched senator who accomplished that swing in 1952.

The three questions cannot be considered separately. They are pretty much woven together. In the first place, the President started his 1952 "draft" with the idea that he would be only a one-term president. He told this to various friends, including this correspondent.

All presidents have a right to change their minds, however, and frequently do. But in this case, Eisenhower has given the contrary impression. All his remarks, plus those of his wife, indicate that he is itching for the day when, at the age of 66 (which will be in 1956), he can retire to his farm in Gettysburg. Certainly if the election goes against him today, it will require a political bulldozer to pull him into the race again.

Mastermind Nixon
The success of today's balloting, paradoxically, is going to depend in large part on the tactics of the young man who would like to succeed Ike. For, more than any other man in the Republican party, young Mr. Nixon has been drafting the strategy and calling the shots of the current campaign.

It is Nixon even more than chairman Men Hall who has been on the long-distance telephone to state leaders, who has thrown extra speakers into key states, and who almost tearfully demanded that Ike get out and campaign. For Nixon knows more than anyone else that if the Republicans are defeated today he will be smothered; his future has gone glimmering.

It was Nixon who made the crucial decision to use McCarthy's tactics in this campaign. He sold the idea at the Denver conference, where he bluntly informed the President that the public was not interested in his legislative program and needed a gripping, hair-raising, headline-making issue. Eisenhower earlier in the year had repeatedly stated that the election should not be decided on the issue of Communism, but rather on the accomplishments of his Administration. Nixon persuaded him, however, that this was not getting across with the people.

Thus was dusted off the ancient, sure-fire campaign scare of "Reds in government" — used so effectively by Joe McCarthy.

Nixon Was First
To be fair to Nixon, it should be noted that he did not steal this from McCarthy. He had used it himself to get elected to Congress from California. At that time, 1946, he faced the problem of defeating a liberal young Democrat, Congressman Jerry Voorhis, who was anything but a Communist, though he had a pro-labor voting record. To beat Voorhis, Nixon organized a battery of telephone women — many of them Liberty Bells — who did nothing but call voters anonymously. "Did you know Cong. Voorhis was a Communist?" was the whisper that reverberated all over Voorhis' district.

It did the trick. Nixon, only

33 years old and completely unknown in California, won. During the same year, 1946, Joe McCarthy was elected to the Senate in Wisconsin — not by opposing Communism but with the public support of the Communists. His 5,393-vote margin over Bob La Follette, against whom the Communists campaigned bitterly, just about represented the strength of the Communist party in Wisconsin.

And Joe, when asked about his openly-avowed Communist support, remarked: "Communists have the same right to vote as anyone else, don't they?" Real fact is that Joe McCarthy didn't latch on to the "Reds-in-government" technique until four years later; and until after Nixon had successfully used it as a member of the House un-American activities committee and to help himself into the Senate in 1950 by calling Cong. Helen Gahagan Douglas a Red.

The campaign against Mrs. Douglas was one of the most unfair in California history. She had voted for aid to Korea just before the Korean war, when Nixon didn't. However, he had a million-dollar campaign kitty, plus a battery of public relations and advertising experts, while she had little money. Nixon won.

Nixon Vacillates
Since then and during the Eisenhower Administration, Nixon has vacillated between a personal policy of defending Joe McCarthy and putting him on the sidelines.

When McCarthy first got put in his place by Harold Stassen over Greek ships just after Ike took office, it was Mr. Nixon who arranged that McCarthy lunch with Sec. Dulles and who bulldozed Stassen into issuing a statement humbly eating crow.

On the other hand, it was Nixon who turned against McCarthy last year and, at a Christmas conference in Miami, tried to persuade Joe to turn the Communist flag-waving over to Sen. Jenner and the Justice Department.

Heavy Catholic Vote
The important political question behind all this is whether young Mr. Nixon, a Protestant, can use McCarthy's tactics to deliver the Catholic vote to the Republicans as McCarthy delivered it in 1952. He's using the same words. He's using the same gestures. He's getting the same headlines. But can he deliver it? That is the big question.

Historically, and especially under Roosevelt, the Catholic vote has been heavily Democratic. That is why about half the Democratic Senate candidates in the West today are Catholic — Murray of Montana, O'Mahoney of Wyoming, Carroll of Colorado, Pat McNamara of Michigan, Burke of Ohio. They came up through the ranks of the Democratic party.

Yet they are now being smeared by Nixon as pro-Red, pro-Russian, and soft toward Communism. Meanwhile the man who went into strong Catholic areas — like Boston, Hartford, Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, Jersey City — and swung Catholic Democrats over to the Republicans before is now awaiting censure by the Senate.

That's why some McCarthy voters are sore; some may go back to their traditional Democratic fold; some won't vote at all.

And the big question is: Can the energetic Mr. Nixon use the warm-over Red smear to deliver the

Advice on Health

It's Cleanup Time for Medicines

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M.D.

Is your bathroom medicine cabinet a menace to your family's health? Unfortunately, many of them are. Maybe we had better examine the contents of yours right now.

If yours is like most of them, we will find a soggy shaving brush, a razor, two or three old blades, an uncapped toothpaste tube, lipstick, face powder and maybe an eyebrow pencil.

We will also find countless small jars of half-used prescriptions (many for some long forgotten illness) and bottle after bottle of patent medicines. Get rid of these bottles and jars right away!

Like an efficient businessman who audits his stock, an efficient housewife should make a semi-annual audit of her medicine cabinet. A medicine given you six months ago has probably lost its usefulness by this time.

Important Rule
And don't forget, a prescription is for the use of one person and one person alone. Don't take it for granted that medicines prescribed for another member of your family are meant to aid you, too.

Now that you know what you should not have in your cabinet, let's see what should be there. I would advise the following as a basic list of items:

Aspirin or similar preparation for relieving pain; an antiseptic such as iodine or mercurchrome for small cuts and scratches; gauze and small bandages; caron oil for burns; petroleum jelly for soothing chafes or abrasions; glycerine for chafed skin and to relieve earaches; an antiseptic gargle and any other medicines prescribed by your doctor. A tongue depressor for investigating a sore throat might also come in handy if you have children, but a teaspoon will do almost as well.

Vitamins and minerals, of course, have no place in the medicine cabinet. They are essentially food, and should be kept in the kitchen.

Wise Precautions
It is important, too, that all medicines and shaving equipment be kept out of the reach of inquisitive little hands.

Another precaution I would advise, is to paste a list of common poisons and the antidote for each on the cabinet door. You can get such a list from your doctor or druggist.

First aid equipment is also essential in every home. I will tell you tomorrow what supplies you need.

QUESTION AND ANSWER

E.D.R.: Is it harmful to take mineral oil regularly as a laxative?

Answer: It is not advisable to use mineral oil regularly unless advised by your physician. It should be taken at night, before retiring, when your doctor prescribes it.

big mass of votes which McCarthy delivered to the GOP in the past? A lot of observers believe he can't. But today will tell the story.

THE WORLD TODAY

Events Forced Ike To Campaign Actively

By JAMES MARLOW
WASHINGTON (AP)—No matter who wins today's elections—Democrats or Republicans—the 1954 campaign hasn't been the kind President Eisenhower had in mind.

In 1953 he indicated he wouldn't be very active in this year's campaign. But he was. In 1953 he expressed hope Communists-in-government wouldn't be a campaign issue this year. But it was.

Only last week he said he doesn't consider today's elections a vote of confidence in himself or his administration, but Vice President Nixon already has interpreted it that way.

Nixon, congratulated by Eisenhower for the extremely active role he has played in the campaign, has called in public speeches for a "vote of confidence" in the President.

In response to a news conference question Oct. 21, 1953 — "Will you take part in the congressional campaign next year?" — Eisenhower said:

"He did not intend to make of the presidency agency to use in partisan elections. Anybody occupying this office was president of all the people . . . He had no intention of going out and getting into partisan struggles in any district or state."

Naturally, this didn't make Republican politicians happy. And in his next news conference, a week later, Eisenhower said he wanted to see a Republican Congress elected in 1954.

But when asked that day if he felt it would be improper for him to issue a request for election of a Republican Congress, Eisenhower said he wouldn't say what form any statement might take but he doubted a mere request along that line would be effective.

By the time the 1954 campaign was half over Eisenhower still had planned no more than three speeches and showed no signs of wanting to go into individual states to plug for candidates.

Then Republican politicians beat a path to his Summer White House in Denver, asking for help. After that, bit by bit, Eisenhower got deeper into the campaign.

By the time of today's balloting, Eisenhower had campaigned more actively in a mid-term election than any president in modern times. He had pleaded for a Republican Congress and had flown into individual states.

Eisenhower expressed hope Reds-in-government would not be an issue in 1954 at a news conference Nov. 18, 1953. Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis.) promptly said it would be an issue.

In the early weeks of the 1954 campaign Eisenhower seemed right, McCarthy wrong. It may have been an issue locally in some contests for Congress. It was not a national issue until late in the campaign, injected by Nixon and others.

Reds Complain About Increase In Petty Thefts

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Communist government authorities in two East European countries are complaining about increasing petty thefts from "people's owned plants."

Western officials in Vienna said the thefts result from the fact that workers in Red-ruled countries cannot make ends meet on their wages.

Hungarian Communist authorities have threatened severe measures, reproaching judges for being too lenient.

Czechoslovakia also reported an increase in the number of petty thefts, mainly foodstuffs and building materials, from its nationalized industries.

COPENHAGEN, Denmark (AP)—The big, comfortable bus was ready to pull out of Central Station here for an eight-day trip to Germany.

Like ordinary tourists the 25 passengers were eager to get going for the days of fun and enjoyment ahead.

But these were not ordinary tourists. All were physically disabled, including some who had been confined to wheel chairs all their lives as hopeless invalids. Many had been crippled by polio.

Such trips for the physically handicapped have been made possible by privately financed charity. Contributors include banks, insurance companies, the Denmark Assn. to Combat Polio, and individuals.

Trips are made three or four times a year. Those who have some financial resources pay for their tickets, about $65. But many are free. Their age must be between 15 and 65. Information is obtained about the extent of their invalidism and what care they will require.

CAR TIPS

By Al Speltz

(Editor's note: This is another in the series of articles to be published every Tuesday as a service to readers of The Winona Daily News who are interested in automotive maintenance. The author is a certified engine mechanic and contributor to technical magazines.)

TIRE PRESSURE

Before driving 24 lbs.
(tires cold)
After moderate driving 27 lbs.
(tires warm)
After high speed driving 29 lbs.

This, you understand, is a warm weather chart. It can, however, be used as a guide during cold weather—by using it "in reverse." For example, if you are checking tire pressures in a warm shop or garage, and expect to use the car in sub-zero weather, use 29 pounds. If you are checking outside on a mild day, but expect colder weather, use 27.

Why, you may wonder, is it necessary to anticipate temperature drops? The answer is simple: Tire valves, if disturbed when very cold, either by checking or inflating tires, are likely to leak. Tire pressures can, of course, be checked at any time when temperatures are above freezing.

In order to get comparable pressure readings, always use the same tire gauge—preferably your own. One used only by you is likely to be more nearly accurate than one that is dropped frequently on the service station pavement by the other customers.

Maintaining recommended tire pressures is very important. Most of you know that under-inflation is costly. What many of you may not know is that under-inflation does not necessarily improve riding qualities, and that over-inflation does not necessarily prolong tire life.

A tire's capacity to resist deflection depends not only on pressure, but also on contact area. It is possible, therefore, under certain conditions of load, tire size, and tire design, that riding quality may be poorer at, say, 22 pounds than at 24. Besides, the road noise level is almost certain to be higher at the lower pressure.

Keeping pressures too high in front tires changes the effective camber. Over-inflated rear tires may make such poor road contact at high speeds that their service life is shortened. Bouncing and slipping may be severe enough to decrease gasoline mileage.

At moderate speeds, "hard" tires transmit more shocks to the chassis. Repairing the shock damage to instruments and to accessories, like the radio, may be more costly than would be more frequent tire replacements. Because shock absorbers and springs become "stiffer" at lower temperatures, you may not feel that the tires have become "softer." Thus, colder weather, combining restricted wheel movement with under-inflated tires, can cause tire damage unless tire pressures are compensated promptly.

Worker, Load of Coal Make Trip Together

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Edward Schaffer, 41, slid through a giant dock-side hopper with 10 tons of coal yesterday and escaped without injury.

The coal had become stuck in the hopper and Schaffer and several other employees went to the top to poke it loose. Schaffer lost his balance and fell in. Other workmen left the opening at the bottom of the hopper open and after about 10 tons of coal had poured through, Schaffer fell out, unconscious.

He was revived, taken to a hospital and later released.

Stop hanging clothes in a musty basement!

Get a dryer for Christmas. Save your clothes and save yourself! Over 61,000 other N.W. women already have found that clothes smell better, wear longer when dried in an automatic dryer. No musty mildew to weaken fibers. No telltale "basement odor." And you save up to 3 hours a week besides! No wonder so many women use a dryer all year 'round.

Dry clothes fresh and sweet in minutes! Fresh as the outdoors itself and oh, so clean smelling. All in minutes instead of hours! (As Mrs. Clifton Nelson, Howard Lake, Minn., says: "A wonderful way to dry clothes! No more hanging out clothes for me. I love that nice fresh smell my dryer leaves.")

The automatic way saves 3 hours a week! You set the dial, your dryer does the rest. As easy as washing with an automatic washer! And you have more time for other things. (In Eau Claire, Wis., Mrs. Edmund A. Trudell says: "I can wash and iron the same day—don't need as many changes on hand for my children.")

No stair climbing with heavy loads! A dryer saves walking up to 40 miles and lugging up to 3 tons of wet clothes a year. Why don't you take it easy, let your dryer do your work? (Mrs. W. E. Adams of Sioux Falls, S. D., did. Now she's happy that there's no "lugging clothes up and down stairs all day.")

No sprinkling, less ironing! Damp-dry for ironing, fluff-dry for folding. No need for sprinkling—you just set the dial. (And as Mrs. John W. Hart, Grand Forks, N. D., says: "There's less ironing to do!") Talk to your husband about a dryer. 61,000 other women did, and their husbands agreed!

A dryer does it better... get a dryer for Christmas!

A Girl Scout Poster Centers the interest of speaker, fathers and daughters at the annual all-city Girl Scout father-daughter banquet at the Masonic Temple Monday evening. Finland Topic At Girl Scout Annual Banquet

"The Girl Scout uniform is an open sesame to wonderful experiences all over the world," Mrs. L. E. Brynestad told more than 300 fathers and Girl Scout daughters at the annual Girl Scout Father-Daughter banquet Monday evening at the Masonic Temple. Mrs. Brynestad who was chosen as an exchange counselor in Finland last summer told scouts about "Finland, as a Girl Scout experience."

"Wherever I went in uniform," she continued, "I was kindly and graciously received. It was a thrilling experience to meet, to make friends and to exchange experiences with women leaders, senior Girl Scouts and ranger teams from 19 countries of the world on my way overseas."

"From the first moment that I stepped on Finnish soil, and was greeted by the international counselor of Finland, I was warmly welcomed which was indicative of the courtesy and kindness to Americans throughout Finland."

Mrs. Brynestad spent about 45 per cent of her time last summer visiting three camp sites in Finland and the remainder of time was spent visiting in homes of Girl Scouts and Girl Guides. The three camp sites Mrs. Brynestad visited were actually troop or primitive camps—"there are no established camps there as we know them in the United States."

"All Finnish guides and girls are adept in the art of setting up the camps. They are skilled at lashing and proficient in constructing a camp and in the use of detailed maps and compasses. Finnish camp country is much like Northern Minnesota," Mrs. Brynestad told her audience. "I was very much at home amidst the pines, tall trees and beautiful lakes."

"Girls Scout troops are much larger in Finland than they are in our country," she said, "each troop averaging 35 scouts. The troop, however, is divided into patrols headed by trained girl patrol leaders." One of the camps Mrs. Brynestad visited was a patrol leader's camp and the other two were troop camps situated near Varkaus, Finland, and Pyhtäa, Finland.

"Religion played an important role in camp life there since 90 per cent of the Finnish people belong to the same church," Mrs. Brynestad said. "Each day's camp was opened with a meaningful service. There was unusually fine cooperation between the Boy Scout organization and the Girl Guides in Finland," Mrs. Brynestad told her audience, "and there was a predominance of professional people, doctors, engineers, chemists, teachers, all women who were leaders of the Girl Guides there."

"The international program carried out by the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. is a wonderful project and cannot help but cement a close friendship bond together by the ideals and philosophies of scouting," the speaker emphasized.

To illustrate this, Mrs. Brynestad closed by reading the following quotation from a letter she had just received from a Girl Scout leader in Finland: "It doesn't seem possible that 23 days have passed since we stood at the airport waving our hands as long as we could see the airplane. We know that we have not lost you. The bridge is built, the bridge of friendship and Girl Scout spirit between you and us—between America and Finland."

Mrs. R. J. Williams, president of the council, welcomed the guests and thanked all those responsible for the evening's arrangements. Mary Heise, senior scout of Troop Five, who acted as toastmistress, introduced Meredith West who gave a "Toast to the Dads." Dr. George Loomis who gave a "Toast to Our Daughters" and Mrs. James Parish who led scouts and fathers in scout songs, accompanied by Mrs. D. T. Burt. Mariner Troop Two presented and retired the colors.

Madison PTA Hears Talk by Dr. Melvin Wedul

Members of the Madison School PTA participated in a get-acquainted quiz at the PTA meeting Monday evening at the school. Mrs. William S. L. Christensen, hospitality chairman, asked the questions and the winning team was awarded a ten-pound turkey. Mrs. Lloyd Bowen of the winning team received the prize.

Dr. Melvin Wedul, principal of Phelps Laboratory School was the speaker of the evening. His subject was "What Really Matters?" "What really matters depends on who we are and the circumstances," he stressed.

He asked "Does it matter that the world's population? Juvenile delinquency has increased 50 per cent since 1948? Amendment No. 1 should be passed? We need more schools? We need twice as many new teachers?"

"These are problems. Do they matter? Yes, if they happen to me! If the problems presented touch our own lives, then they matter."

"We can teach our young people to weigh the values of democracy against the promises of Communism. We can give our children under the age of six the kind of home life that will help them withstand the influences leading to delinquency. We can see that competent, qualified persons staff our juvenile and probation offices."

"We can work for adequate school facilities. We can encourage young people to enter the teaching field. These are the challenges. Something must be done. What can you do?"

Mrs. Warren Seeling, rummage sale chairman, thanked the members for their cooperation in the sale which realized $28.31.

Mrs. E. D. Sievers reported on the progress of the Fun Frolic plans. The Fun Frolic will be Nov. 12.

Mrs. Orlove Nordby's sixth grade won the attendance prize and mothers of fourth grade pupils served refreshments during the social hour following the meeting.

Just recently a well known scientist perfected a new tiny capsule that combines not one but ALL the recognized proven aids to reducing. It combines the vitamins and minerals often lost when cutting off fattening foods containing these needed vitamins and minerals. It combines the vegetable cellulose that has no calories yet expands when it absorbs water thereby helping ease the feeling of a full, contented stomach. In fact these tiny capsules are so packed with vitamins and minerals, protein and non-caloric filling food, they actually equal and exceed many a meal.

Home Blazing When Chatfield Couple Returns

CHATFIELD, Minn. (Special)—Fire, believed to have been caused by defective wiring, partially destroyed the Clifford Manning home four miles west of here this morning. Damage was estimated at $10,000.

Manning and his wife were transporting children to the Chatfield school when the fire broke out. He discovered the blaze at 8:30 a.m. when he returned from the school bus run. The upper story of the 7-room frame dwelling and the interior of the lower floor were charred ruins when local firemen put it under control.

Because the flames prevented calling from the house and neighbors do not have telephones, Manning drove to town to sound the alarm. Firemen used the pressure fog system to stop the fire. Water was taken from a cistern on the Manning farm and from cream trucks which transported water.

The Mannings and son, Donald, who is a senior at Chatfield High School, probably will stay with the Mannings' daughters, Mrs. Myron Bernard and Mrs. Lloyd Greenlee, both of Chatfield, until the home is rebuilt.

With the exception of some kitchen furniture and a few items of clothing, the family possessions were wiped out. Manning said that his insurance is not adequate to cover the loss. He feels that defective wiring in the attic was to blame as the fire was localized in that area when he first saw it.

This has been a common procedure for emergencies.

County Engineer Bert Pinnoneault was authorized to attend the engineers institute at the University of Minnesota Dec. 6-9.

Highway 12 Rebuilding Planned by Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis. — Ultimate reconstruction of U.S. Highway 12, the main traffic route across western Wisconsin between Minnesota and Illinois, to the highest design standards now recommended by the U.S. Bureau of Public Roads is being planned by the Wisconsin Highway Commission.

At the same time, the state department said it was planning to spend $175,000 as Wisconsin's share for the reconstruction of the approaches to the De Soto-Lansing bridge across the Mississippi.

Surfacing of State Highway 35 from its junction with U.S. 14 to the south La Crosse County line, a distance of 1.5 miles, at a cost of $25,000 also is in the picture.

Since World War II, an average of 190,000 military a year have come to the United States.

Mondovi Telephone Firm Switches To Dial System

MONDOVI, Wis. — Telephoning has taken on the modern touch in this community as 1,150 patrons of the Mondovi Telephone Co. began using dial phones Sunday morning.

Costing $111,797, the project effects outlets in town and the surrounding rural area. An switchboard at the exchange houses new switchboard equipment. The changeover comes on the 50th anniversary of the firm which was founded here March 21, 1904.

At 8:30 a.m. Sunday, lines to the old switchboards were cut, eight operators terminating their employment with the company and relays to the new system were opened by removal of thousands of toothpicks which had served as barriers. Earlier in the morning, MTC officials headed by B. B. Lockwood, president and general manager; J. H. Hesselman, treasurer and plant superintendent; and Vern Nyre converted systems at 300 rural homes in the area. This was done by cutting off the old circuit and inserting a fuse in the new.

Transition equipment valued at $45 is installed at each farm home. Included were new lines, lightning protectors and ground rods. Free service lines will be maintained to Modena, Eleva and Gilmanston.

Operators released by the company when the new system went into effect are Mrs. Walter Rohrschke, Mrs. George Shafer, Mrs. Alma Ward, Miss Clara Steinke, Mrs. Norbert Weiss, Mrs. Lee Dowden, Mrs. Junior Hollister and Mrs. Arlene Swenson.

As deterrent to long personal calls, an interrupter will cut off party line conversations after eight minutes. The user will be warned by a signal a minute before the break. Phone books were distributed late last week together with manuals describing correct operating procedure.

Word has been received here of the death at Tacoma, Wash., of Henry A. Rhodes, 81, former resident of the Winona area who became one of the best known merchants in the Pacific Northwest. He was co-founder of the Rhodes department store of Tacoma.

He went to Tacoma in July 1892, where he and a brother, the late William L. Rhodes, established the store that bears their name.

William later opened the first Rhodes 10-cent store in Seattle. Another brother, Albert J. Rhodes, founded the Seattle Rhodes department store in 1907.

Escaped Ward Of YCC Captured At Abandoned Farm

ELK RIVER, Minn. (U. P.)—Capture of an escaped ward of the Youth Conservation Commission (YCC) at an abandoned farm home nine miles northwest of here was reported Monday by Chester Goerner, Sherburne County sheriff.

Acting on a tip, Goerner said he went to the farm home late Saturday night and surprised Walter Miller, 19, who had escaped from the YCC's Willow River camp near Duluth about a month ago.

Miller was identified as a New Ulm boy who was committed from Dakota County for burglary last May. He had been living in the farm house for several days, Goerner said, using an upstairs room outfitted with a bed, oil stove and food.

Goerner said Miller gave this account of his exploits after his escape from Willow River:

He stole a car and drove to St. Cloud, where he stole a second car and drove it to Alabama. He abandoned the machine there and hitchhiked to Indiana, where he stole a third car and drove it back to Minnesota.

When the trunk of the Indiana car was opened by Goerner on Monday, the sheriff found a cash register inside, estimated as worth $1,000.

Henry A. Rhodes Dead at Tacoma

Word has been received here of the death at Tacoma, Wash., of Henry A. Rhodes, 81, former resident of the Winona area who became one of the best known merchants in the Pacific Northwest. He was co-founder of the Rhodes department store of Tacoma.

The pioneer merchant, who recently published a book "Memoirs of a Merchant," was born on a farm near Trempealeau, Wis., and attended Gale College in Galesville, Wis.

He went to Tacoma in July 1892, where he and a brother, the late William L. Rhodes, established the store that bears their name.

William later opened the first Rhodes 10-cent store in Seattle. Another brother, Albert J. Rhodes, founded the Seattle Rhodes department store in 1907.

Henry Rhodes retired from active management of the Tacoma store in 1925 to devote his time to community activities.

He was an active member of the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce. He became a director of that organization in 1895. Mr. Rhodes also was chairman of a charter review committee which, in 1920, arranged a change in Tacoma's form of government.

He also was founder of the Washington State Good Roads Association.

Surviving are his wife, Pearl; a daughter, Mrs. Audley Fraser, Tacoma; a step-daughter, Mrs. Leo Bagley, Tacoma; a sister, Mrs. Mary Comstock, Galesville, Wis.; a brother, Charles W. Rhodes, Menlo Park, Calif., four nieces and a nephew.

Funeral services were held Friday at 1 p.m. in the Buckley-King Funeral Home in Tacoma. The Rev. Howard E. Davis of St. John's Episcopal Church, Seattle, officiated.

Escaped Ward Of YCC Captured At Abandoned Farm

ELK RIVER, Minn. (U. P.)—Capture of an escaped ward of the Youth Conservation Commission (YCC) at an abandoned farm home nine miles northwest of here was reported Monday by Chester Goerner, Sherburne County sheriff.

Acting on a tip, Goerner said he went to the farm home late Saturday night and surprised Walter Miller, 19, who had escaped from the YCC's Willow River camp near Duluth about a month ago.

Miller was identified as a New Ulm boy who was committed from Dakota County for burglary last May. He had been living in the farm house for several days, Goerner said, using an upstairs room outfitted with a bed, oil stove and food.

Goerner said Miller gave this account of his exploits after his escape from Willow River:

He stole a car and drove to St. Cloud, where he stole a second car and drove it to Alabama. He abandoned the machine there and hitchhiked to Indiana, where he stole a third car and drove it back to Minnesota.

When the trunk of the Indiana car was opened by Goerner on Monday, the sheriff found a cash register inside, estimated as worth $1,000.

New Businesses Have Tough Time Getting Started

By SAM DAWSON
NEW YORK (AP)—The quest for more business and higher profits spurs industrial research in these competitive days and also adds urgency to the search for ways to squeeze some of the gamble out of new enterprises.

For they are a gamble. Business failure tables are top heavy with casualties among the newcomers to any particular field. And marketing specialists say that from 5 to 10 new products flop for every one that catches on.

Steadily mounting spending for industrial research has brought a trend toward specialization. Some study ways to perfect products. Some probe into the whims of consumers. Some do research for only one industry. Some specialize in the customs, needs and profit chances in one particular region.

Armour Research Foundation of the Illinois Institute of Technology in Chicago reports it did 538 research projects for industry and government in the past year. Dr. Halden A. Leedy, its director, says its next big project is building what he calls the nation's first nuclear reactor specifically constructed for industrial research.

Only one field—the burgeoning chemical industry—is served by the Roger Williams Technical & Economic Services, Inc. The president, Roger Williams Jr., has worked out a system whereby multiple clients share the expense of a project. Just now, for example, a number of companies are splitting the bill for a study of market possibilities and raw material supplies for additives to livestock feed to stimulate growth.

Many research firms work on the marketing problems involved in launching new products or in entering new regions.

"The average new industrial product is seldom a natural," contends Fred I. Smith, industrial marketing specialist of Steward, Douglas & Associates. "Without prior market study, it's a 10-1 gamble."

Chivalry Frees Girl But Jails the Hero

VAN NUYS, Calif. (AP)—The chivalry of Morris W. Balken, 30, landed him in jail yesterday.

A comely UCLA coed, Marion L. Gleason, 19, had burst into tears when a judge told her she would have to pay a $15 fine or go to jail for three days for speeding. She sobbed that she had no money to pay the fine, and the bailiff started to lead her to jail.

"Don't send that girl to jail," shouted Balken. "I'll pay her fine."

Marion expressed fervent thanks and departed.

Then Balken's case was called. He was given the alternative of $35 or seven days after pleading guilty to failing to signal for a turn and driving without a license.

Lacking the $35, he went to jail.

Torchlight Parade Has Burning Impression

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (AP)—A Republican torchlight parade—modeled after the political displays of old—left some burning impressions here last night.

Both Charleston Mayor John T. Copenhaver and Miss Elizabeth Hallahan, a candidate for the House of Delegates, said torch sparks burned holes in their coats.

Tom Sweeney, Republican candidate for U. S. Senate, reported no incendiary incidents, but said he got blisters from carrying a sign.

VOICE of the OUTDOORS

Arcadia Archer
Cleon Fernholz, Arcadia, Wis., got this spike-horned buck, weighing about 100 pounds, the other evening in the Trempealeau River bottoms. He was the first Arcadian in recent years to bring home a deer killed with an arrow. It is the second deer taken by archers this season in the county. Russell Severson, Lake Mills, Wis., got one on the opening day.

The dozen bow and arrow hunters in the Arcadia area are planning to organize an archery club. The picture above was made by Roman Woychik, Arcadia.

Speaking of deer, game wardens suggest that motorists along highways adjoining the river use caution when traveling at night. Deer are now moving about more. Two were killed by cars in Winona County during the last week, one near Dresbach, the other was killed near Ridgeway. Warden Ronald Shager found the head of a buck and its front feet in a field near Pickwick. It had been harvested illegally.

Duck Movement
Hundreds of ducks rode the storm southward Monday, observers along the river reported. One observer told us that two or three flocks were in view most of the time traveling high and fast.

Bill Green, Refuge biologist, expressed the belief that birds that have been in some of the closed areas are moving out. He was going to fly a duck survey today.

The few seasoned hunters out Monday morning all came back with limits of big ducks. It quieted down in the afternoon. The river was rough. Some of the backwaters were not safe for small duck boats. Whitecaps were breaking all over exposed sections of water.

Pheasant Reports
With most of the corn still standing unharvested in the fields, Minnesota pheasant hunters generally found hunting slow and difficult over the weekend. Limits of three cocks were rare for most parties, and few parties filled for the weekend, even those going deep into the pheasant country of southwest Minnesota.

Weather did not cut down the migration of hunters into the pheasant country. There was the usual number of hunters to the square mile, the usual number of posted farms and the opening day jam of people in hunting clothes on the streets, in the restaurants and in cars along the highway.

In most areas, hunters complained about hunting. In the Fulda, Worthington and Jackson districts on Saturday the number of birds taken was below the usual season opening. A good dog was essential. Most farmers objected to hunters going through their standing corn fields. Conditions were better in the Albert Lea area Sunday, where large parties with plenty to drive and with dogs came out with birds.

Locally, the average in approximately 100 cars checked Saturday and Sunday by two warden patrol cars, operated on the highways of Fillmore, Houston and Winona counties, was about one bird per hunter, Shager, local warden, reported. This was the best hunting experienced in these counties in recent years.

Hunters, he said, complained about roosters not rising. Here, as in the western counties, dogs were extremely valuable because of the standing corn and heavy growth in the sloughs. In the whole check, the warden found no hunters with loaded or set-up guns in their cars or with hen pheasants in possession. They found no quail or Hungarian pheasant hunters.

Big Flight
The following wire from Darby Read, Bismarck, N. D. says: "Untold thousands of mallards and bluebills passing through Bismarck now. Flight lasted two hours. Shooting tops here. This about completes northern flight for this year. No geese in this flight." (4:30 p.m. Monday.)

Nearly 6,000 London Dockers Back on Strike

LONDON (AP)—Nearly 6,000 London stevedores went back on strike today, bringing fears that last month's disastrous waterfront stoppage may be revived.

By midday 42 of 150 ships in the port stood idle. Port authorities feared others of London's 23,000 dockers might come out after meetings this afternoon.

The strike began Monday with dockers at one wharf refusing to work alongside nonunion truck drivers or drivers who worked during the October strike.

The strike, enthusiastically backed by the Communists, lasted four weeks and crippled eight ports.

The new strike is opposed by union officials.

Bing Crosby Back On Radio Nov. 22

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Bing Crosby is returning to radio, starting Nov. 22. He will be heard Monday through Friday on CBS from 9:15 to 9:30 p.m.

It will be the same type of program that skyrocketed the crooner to fame nearly 25 years ago.

Corn Picker Falls on Man

RIDGEWAY, Minn. (Special)—Robert J. McNally Jr., escaped serious injury Saturday when a corn picker he was repairing fell on top of him. The machine was elevated on a jack as McNally crawled under it, but the jack gave way pinning McNally's arm across his chest.

McNally's father and a neighbor, Clarence McClymont, quickly lifted the picker to free McNally. X-rays indicated there were no broken bones, but McNally suffered serious bruises.

Bulk of Theater Man's Estate Goes to Wife

LOS ANGELES (AP)—The will of theater magnate Charles F. Skouras leaves property valued at more than a million dollars to members of his immediate family.

Filed for probate yesterday, the will designated as separate property of his widow Florence a home in Beverly Hills, theater property in San Diego and stocks and bonds standing in her name. To her went in trust all the community property interest her husband held in stocks and bonds in six corporations.

Skouras, 65, died Oct. 22 of a heart ailment.

Search Continues For Missing Navy Plane Carrying 42

NEW YORK (AP)—Scores of planes and ships today continued to scour the North Atlantic for a missing Navy plane carrying 42 persons, amid unconfirmed reports of flare and debris sightings.

There also were what one or two radio listeners believed to be SOS calls, but, as in the purported flare and debris sightings, Navy officials emphasized there was little to raise hopes.

The lost Navy Super-Constellation left Patuxent, Md., Saturday night for North Africa with many servicemen, and some wives and children.

A routine report made by the big plane 90 minutes after its take-off was the last heard from it. At that time it was about 480 miles east of Baltimore.

Stove Explodes, 4 Children Die

ASHTABULA, Ohio (AP)—Joint funeral services were arranged today for four youngsters who died yesterday when a stove exploded and burned down a small rural home.

Ashtabula County sheriff's deputies said the stove was fueled with bottled gas. What caused the blast wasn't known.

Dead were Richard R. Tryon, 4, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Tryon, and three children of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Gordon Riggs: Kathryn, 11 months, Erlene, 3, and Richard, 2.

Mrs. Tryon, who lived in a house trailer near the Riggs house, was minding the children while the other parents were at work. The explosion blew her out of the house. Flames stopped her rescue efforts.

Doctor Needs Help To Follow Own Advice

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—It was the night before elections and a group of local physicians advised an audience on how to calm nervous tension.

Among other things they suggested whitewashing walls, a good cry and relaxing by doing "what you enjoy."

The six physicians participated in a Columbus Academy of Medicine health forum at Central High School.

Five of the doctors seemed quite calm but one kept slipping his left shoe on and off. If you've got any walls you want whitewashed, you might let him know.

7 Plead Guilty To Breaking and Entering at BRF

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis. (Special)—Seven persons pleaded guilty when arraigned before Circuit Judge Beiluss at the opening of the November term of court here Monday.

Fred Brockway, 19, Dennis Dorwin, 17, and Orr Jinkerson, 17, all of the Town of Brockway, pleaded guilty to charges of breaking and entering at the Waughall Mill and the A & W Root Beer stand. The court ordered pre-sentence investigations and bonds are to be continued until next motion day when sentence will be made in view of the State Department of Public Welfare's findings.

John Simplot, also of the Town of Brockway, pleaded guilty to charges involving taking merchandise valued at about $30 from another Brockway resident. District Attorney Louis Drecktrah pointed out that Simplot was convicted in November, 1952 on a larceny charge and was put on probation. The court ordered pre-sentence investigation with Simplot kept in county jail until next motion day.

Walter Stacy, 17, Frances Funmaker, 17, and Joe Hall, 18, Winnebagoes also pleaded guilty to charges of taking six cases of beer from the Millis Beer Depot here. Each was sentenced to the county jail for 60 days, the first 30 of which is to be served in confinement, the balance stayed. The court ordered the three placed under probation to the State Department of Public Welfare for six months.

All other cases listed in the calendar are set for trial. Pre-trial hearings will be continued Wednesday. The case of the State vs. Wilbur and Elsie Laib on assault charges, according to District Attorney Drecktrah, is still incomplete and was passed until the file is complete. Added to the calendar was a case of the State vs. Tony Jerome on a conservation violation.

School Lighting Contracts Let

A contract for the installation of fluorescent light fixtures in rooms of several public schools was awarded Monday by the Board of Education, meeting in special session to consider bids on the project opened last week.

The contract was awarded to the Kline Electric Co., Winona, on its proposal to furnish 20 rooms and offices with the fluorescent fixtures at a price of $5,475.

The only other bidder was the Winona Electric Construction Co., which bid the job at $5,449 for 18 rooms and offices.

Bidders had been asked to submit proposals on the number of rooms that they would equip for under $5,500, the amount set up in this year's school budget for lighting work.

The bids were opened at a special session last Thursday but action was deferred pending a study of the bids by Superintendent of Buildings and Grounds John Timmons.

At Monday's special session Timmons said that he had found that Kline's fixtures met the specifications and the board voted to award the contract to the low bidder.

Lost 'Bankroll' Not Worth the Effort

OKLAHOMA CITY (AP)—Until a policeman arrived to get the facts, a throng of spectators did considerable worrying about how to fish a bankroll out of the sewer.

The crowd rallied around an aging man, who gazed wistfully down the drain after some lost cash. The man explained he didn't have strength to lift the cast iron sewer grating.

Then an Oklahoma City policeman arrived. He was preparing to call the Street Department crew to help retrieve the bank money when he asked a question that fascinated spectators.

"Friend," he said, "how much money did you drop down there?" "It was a dime," the man replied. Turned out to be bus money, not bank money.

A near-by woman handed the bad luck victim a quarter.

There were more calls for flood relief throughout the world in the summer of 1954 than ever before in the history of the League of Red Cross Societies.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

Connecticut is a very small state—the third smallest in the nation. But it is one of the most progressive of all the 48 states in many respects.

You will excuse me, I am sure, if I do a little bragging about the state in which I live. I am not a member of any chamber of commerce or any other such organization. But I do think the sun shines just a little brighter, the trees are a little taller, the grass a little greener here in Connecticut.

In New Haven, one of our two largest cities, two establishments were sued recently by the father of a girl who was killed in an automobile accident by an intoxicated driver.

The father claimed that the two, the driver's lodge and a restaurant, were guilty of serving the man liquor when it was evident that he was getting drunk.

Contributory negligence is what they called it, and the case was settled out of court with $22,000 as the amount on which they agreed.

It doesn't matter who the people were who sued or were sued, so I won't name them. What does matter is the principle.

I think the court, the lawyers, and everybody else in the case set a worth while precedent.

Hereafter in a case like this, only the driver was punished, and often even he got out of his jam if he had a good lawyer.

It takes two to make a fight. It takes two or more to cause an accident.

The saloonkeeper or whatever you may call him who sells liquor to a drunken person or to one about to get drunk, is just as guilty as the drunken driver who runs over someone with his automobile which he has no business to drive.

The same thing applies to many other cases where someone else is guilty of being an accessory to a crime or a misdemeanor or even to a civil misdeed.

You read all the time about prostitutes being arrested, but the men with them go scot-free. Why? Aren't they just as guilty as their female companions?

Take your divorce cases. Wherever there is unfaithfulness involved, why shouldn't the third party in the case, man or woman (and often it is a woman), be just as responsible as the pair directly involved?

One of these days—and the time is still far, far away—we will have an altogether different idea about crime and punishment than we have now.

We have tried capital punishment. We have tried all kinds of prisons, jails and reformatories. Yet, crime is steadily on the increase.

Doesn't it seem as if there is something altogether wrong with our idea of social factors, and as if we are still way behind in the way we handle crime and criminals?

I don't want to make the same mistake as Sec. of Defense Charles E. Wilson with his reference to bird dogs and kennel dogs.

But I do believe that you cannot train a dog to do anything merely by locking him up in a dog house. The way to do that is by knowing more than the dog does.

The way to cure criminals is by knowing more about human beings than the criminals do.

Taylor to Head Forces in Japan, Okinawa, Korea

SEOUL (AP)—The United States, streamlining its top command in the Far East "to improve its strategic position," today named Gen. Maxwell B. Taylor to head all ground forces in Japan, Okinawa and Korea.

Taylor, the present U. S. 8th Army commander here, will assume his new duties Nov. 20.

Almost simultaneously, the Army said the U. S. 9th Corps headquarters, at reduced strength, will be moved from Korea to Japan this month.

Taylor's new job still leaves him directly under Gen. John E. Hull, who will retain command of all U. S. military forces in the Far East—Army, Navy and Air Force.

The moves are part of a plan to cut down U. S. military strength in Korea. Elements of the 24th Division—the first U. S. ground troops to see action in the Korean War—will be redeployed to Japan.

Only the 1st Marine Division, the 7th Army Division, two regiments of the 24th Division and headquarters of the 1st and 10th Corps will remain in Korea.

Woman Committed For Murder of Daughter-in-Law

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP)—Mrs. Dora Litter, 50, indicted for the murder of her daughter-in-law, was committed yesterday to the Lima state hospital by the Adams County Common Pleas Court.

The body of the daughter-in-law, Mrs. Edith Litter, 21, was found in their country home at nearby Cedar Mills.

The elder Mrs. Litter, a self-proclaimed minister, said she did not report the death to authorities because it was enough that she reported it to God.

Dr. L. A. Bushong, superintendent at Lima, said Mrs. Litter had been judged insane after a 30-day period of observation at the hospital. Cause of the daughter-in-law's death has not been announced.

FBI Agents Arrest Alleged Red Party Worker

NEW YORK (AP)—FBI agents have arrested a woman they identified as Martha Stone, 44, and described her as a Communist party worker since her teens and a Red underground leader since 1951.

The woman was seized in a Bronx restaurant, the FBI said Monday. It said she had been sought since her indictment last June 17 by a federal grand jury in New Haven, Conn.

She is charged with being a member of a group which teaches and advocates overthrow of the U. S. government by force or violence. If convicted, she could get 10 years in prison, a $10,000 fine or both.

The FBI said Martha Stone was for years an open Communist leader in New Jersey but in 1951 went underground. Agents said she failed to come forward and reveal her whereabouts even when an auto accident hospitalized her 6-year-old son in November, 1951, and when her father died the same year.

In Paterson, N.J., her husband, Emil Asher, scoffed at reports that she was an underground leader living in hiding. Asher said his wife's job as chairman of the New Jersey Communist party took her away from home frequently. He said he would hire a lawyer to defend her.

Surprised?

We were watching Murray Warmath's Minnesota Gophers dispatch the Michigan State Spartans with comparative ease Saturday afternoon at Memorial Stadium in Minneapolis.

After what happened at Michigan the week before, we were ready to believe those stories questioning the ability of the Gopher football team.

But in the light of what happened Saturday—Minnesota's triumph over the Spartans and Indiana's surprising victory over Michigan—perhaps the fearful doubting the Wolverines handed the Gophers can be written off by saying that the Wolves were keyed highly for the game, while the Gophers were flat.

We were wrong in thinking the shelling the Gophers absorbed at Michigan would so destroy their confidence that they'd be unable to come back against the Spartans. The Gophers did come back—they played a whole of a game against a team that is highly regarded despite a losing record.

The Minnesota line outplayed Michigan State's and Bob McNamara was once again superb. He's a real good ball player. The ease with which Michigan State scored its first touchdown was disturbing but the Gophers took charge shortly thereafter and enabled the packed stadium of Minnesota rooters to partake of a very enjoyable afternoon of football.

And, who would have thought that Minnesota would probably finish with at least a 6-3 record? The Gophers are 5-1 now and have yet to play Oregon State, Iowa and Wisconsin. A victory over Oregon State is likely. And the play of Minnesota Saturday indicates that triumphs over Iowa and Wisconsin aren't out of the question. Minnesota could finish with a 7-2 or 8-1 record. But maybe that's dreaming. Time will tell.

Walt Williams, the Lake City basketball coach, says, "Anytime I have three boys in my front line, I have to look up to them, I'll have good size. Williams stands 6-4 1/2."

Improving

There were upsets in football over the weekend, but an inkling that The Daily News football forecasting panel may be improving lies in the fact that we weren't unanimously wrong on any game.

Bob Eggleston picked Pitt to upset West Virginia, an occurrence that actually took place to the surprise of many football fans.

Even Indiana's upset over Michigan didn't completely catch us unaware because Earl Gilbert predicted it to happen.

The Iowa victory over Wisconsin was another mild surprise, but it was pegged in some corners, including by yours truly.

Gilbert had a good weekend—he missed winners on only two of 15 games. Eggleston and Reeve had 12 right and 3 wrong. Gilbert came the closest to picking an actual score. He saw Arkansas over Texas A & M by 13-7 and the Arkies won, 14-7.

Eggleston was close on the UCLA-California game. He had the Uclans winning 25-6 and they actually won 27-6.

The week concluded football for Coach Johnny Nett's Coting High Ramblers. Winona State, St. Mary's and Winona High ring down the curtain this weekend. Which means that for the last two weeks of the season, we'll have to be content with picking national winners.

Results over the weekend:

Badgers Hurting At Halfback Slots

By JACK BURKE

MADISON (U-P)—It's just like Wisconsin football coach Jerry Williamson predicted last August—a lack of halfback speed is hurting the Badgers.

The Badgers, who take on Northwestern in their homecoming game at Camp Randall Saturday, clearly showed the weakness again when Iowa hung on a 13-7 licking at Iowa City last weekend.

Fullback Alan Ameche, the team's candidate for All-American honors, contributed 17 of Wisconsin's 123 yards gained rushing against the Hawkeyes. Six other backs, carrying the ball 20 times, could add only 12 yards—just 12 yards—to the attack.

In the Ohio State battle a week earlier, another frustrating experience for the Badgers, who had borne such high hopes for this season, Ameche barged for 42 yards. Nine backfield mates, however, could help out to the extent of only 47 yards more.

Because the team's serial attack was functioning effectively in the first four games—all won by the Badgers—the deficiency wasn't as noticeable as later. During that span, quarterback Jimmy Miller and Jim Hanusa pitched for 38 completions in 66 throws, bringing 504 yards and three touchdowns.

When the passing offense began to level off, the running attack was called on to carry more of the load. This it failed to do. There were no such speed backs as Harland Carl or Jerry Witt, last year's dependable who were graduated, to give the Badgers an outside threat to match Ameche's pigskin plunges.

In the season opener, Little Johnny Bridgeman, sophomore from East Chicago, Ind., raced in the final minutes for two quick touchdowns in the route of Marquette. He soared everywhere, but developments indicated the big splash was made against a bunch of tired Warriors, and Bridgeman never repeated in later games.

Williamson has tried two lettermen, Bob Gingsass and Clary Bratt, at the halfbacks. He also has tried sophomore Billy Lowe and Pat Levenhagen. Except in late games, none has exhibited anything to rate. Levenhagen, undoubtedly the best of the lot, but he runs like a fullback and may take over the post when "The Horse" graduates.

UCLA Tops Football Poll; Gophers 14th, Badgers 16th

By HUGH FULLERTON JR. The Associated Press

The growing idea that a football team has to "win big" every Saturday to maintain a high national ranking will come in for a serious test next weekend.

Although the educators deplore the thought of running up big scores to impress the voters, the success of high scoring as UCLA and Miami has been reflected consistently in the balloting of the sports writers and broadcasters participating in the weekly Associated Press ranking poll.

It's UCLA on top this week, the third leader in as many weeks.

Orioles Make Money For New Owners

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK, (U-P)—The most timely reading of the week in sports circles comes in the form of a pamphlet mailed to each of the stockholders of the Baltimore Baseball Club, Inc., disclosing that the Orioles in their first season of freedom from St. Louis have earned a tidy net profit of $42,153.29 after estimated taxes.

Now, there is a nice, fat figure which the presidents of seven other American League clubs should be able to read and assimilate without any great mental strain as they mull over their final decision on this Athletics.

It's as simple as that. A club which had lost $707,000 operating as the St. Louis Browns the previous year was poured into new uniforms and moved into a new city and came near making a million dollars after paying all expenses. On the face of it, there appears to be no sound reason why the A's could not be expected to do something comparable in Kansas City, even though the population of the Midwestern city is far short of Baltimore's.

Population, as a matter of fact, seems to mean less and less these days as enthusiasm for baseball shifts steadily away from the big Eastern centers of its origin. Milwaukee has for the second straight season demonstrated that a head count into the millions is not necessary if you give the fans a club they can root for.

Baltimore didn't have even that.

Conley Takes Milwaukee Job

MILWAUKEE (U-P)—Gene Conley, the Milwaukee Braves basketball playing pitcher who just stepped down from the pro game ranks as a player, is the new promotional director for the Milwaukee Hawks.

Conley, 6 foot 8 inch right-hander who posted a 14 and nine record with the Braves last season, gave up a job with the Boston Celtics of the National Basketball Assn. last Friday. He quit just prior to the Hawks' opening game at Rochester, N. Y.

Only Thing International Falls Lost This Season Was Coin Toss

By JIM KLOBUCHAR

INTERNATIONAL FALLS, Minn. (U-P)—The spirit of Notre Dame has blended with Minnesota legend here to produce a new schoolboy wonder team.

International Falls High School stood acclaimed today as perhaps the best in Minnesota prep football. The evidence was eight straight victories, per game average of more than 44 points and a conference championship.

From Minnesota, there were the contributions of Coach Frank (Butch) Larson, an All-American end in the 1930s, and the incomparable Bronko Nagurski, whose son was the most publicized and probably one of the best high school players in the state.

The father-son scheme extended further. For the backfield brothers, Jim and Joe Crotty, are the sons of a Notre Dame of the 1930s, Erwin Crotty, a contract-loving guard before his career was interrupted by injuries.

In eight games, during which the Bronchos scored 343 points to 57 for opponents, they needed to punt only three times. In all but one contest, they scored the first time they handled the ball.

They averaged more than 10 yards per play and fullback Jim Crotty had a personal efficiency of 18 yards a try.

The four regular backs—Jim Crotty, Larry Domish and the Crofts—all scored more than 86 points.

The only thing they ever lost was the referee's coin toss, they guessed wrong on that eight consecutive times.

Coaches in the Iron Range Conference, one of the roughest in the state, ultimately stopped trying to devise defenses against Larson's T formation. It functioned behind a line averaging 180 pounds per man and anchored by 210-pound Bronko Jr. at left tackle and 185-pound Elmer Walls at right tackle.

The Bronchos' biggest gainer this year was the graybeard tackle trap play with Jim Crotty carrying.

In victories over Coleraine, Chis-olm, Grand Rapids, Hibbing, Eveleth, Virginia, Ely and Superior Central, Falls never scored less than 33 points a game. It reached a high pitch in the 75-0 submersion of Ely.

Only once was Larson forced into sharp prodding, between halves of the Eveleth game when the team appeared flat.

The elder Nagurski, strictly a sideline observer otherwise, strode into the dressing room to offer some advice to junior.

Ward Top Scorer In District One

LANESBORO, Minn.—Cantor's hard-running Gerald Ward is the 1954 District One scoring champion. Ward, All-District last year, finished the season with 68 points.

To win the title of top scorer, Ward had to beat off a double-barreled bid by Spring Valley's touchdown twins, Jim Sheldon and Dick Webster, who finished with 68 points apiece.

Sheldon and Webster were Spring Valley's mainstays in parading to this season's District One championship.

Sheldon and Webster, tied for runner-up honors, were 30 points ahead of Rushford's Chuck Austad, who finished in fourth place with 36 points.

Following Austad were Orville Swenson, Mabel, 33; Ken Alderman, Preston, 32, and Gary Rover, Spring Grove, and Canton's Hubert Vannatter, 30 apiece.

According to Mrs. Vienna Drake, District One statistician, a total of 64 players scored during the 1954 District One season. Following are individual scorers:

Led by flashy Primo Villaneuva, UCLA rolled over California 27-6 after beating Stanford 72-0 and Oregon 61-0 on the two previous Saturdays. Those three straight displays of brutal power, combined with Ohio State's 14-7 squeaker over Northwestern, put Red Sanders' Uclans ahead by the narrow margin of 28 points.

Ohio State had taken the lead from Oklahoma the week before when Bud Wilkinson's unbeaten Oklahomaans won by a small margin. When the same thing happened again, Oklahoma winning by only 13-6 from stubborn Colorado, the Sooners dropped lower in the point scoring, although they managed to hold third place by a comfortable margin over Arkansas.

Scoring is on the basis of 10 points for each first place vote, 9 for second, 8 for third, 7 for fourth, 6 for fifth, 5 for sixth, 4 for seventh, 3 for eighth, 2 for ninth, 1 for tenth. UCLA carried 72 of the 281 first-place votes, piled up 1,931 points. Ohio State had 69 firsts and 1,903 points, Oklahoma 42 and 1,666 and Arkansas 16 and 1,494.

Completing the first 10 were Dame, Miami (Fla.), Army, Purdue, Mississippi and Southern California.

Miami, another high-scoring team, moved into the top 10 a week ago after a 9-7 upset over Maryland. Then it whizzed past Fordham 75-7 last Friday and jumped to sixth in the rankings.

Virtually all the top 10 teams figure to win from this Saturday's opponents, so it comes down to the question of whether just winning is enough. Army won from Virginia, 21-20, last Saturday, but dropped two notches in the rankings.

The leading teams, with first-place votes in parentheses:

1. UCLA (72)	1,931
2. Ohio State (69)	1,903
3. Oklahoma (42)	1,666
4. Arkansas (16)	1,494
5. Notre Dame (4)	957
6. Miami (Fla.) (14)	870
7. Army (1)	755
8. Purdue	685
9. Mississippi (2)	529
10. USC	347

(Second 10):
11. Duke 174
12. Iowa 168
13. Cincinnati 163
14. Minnesota 80
15. Rice 75
16. Wisconsin 67
17. West Virginia (1) 58
18. Virginia Tech 55
19. Navy 28
20. (tie) Nebraska 26
Pittsburgh 26
Baylor 26

Baylor drew attention because of her six stakes victories, as well as having produced a champion.

10,418 Season Tickets Sold At Milwaukee

MILWAUKEE (U-P)—The Milwaukee Braves reported Monday the sale of 10,418 season tickets for 1955, a new high in advance sales for the National League's top drawing club the past two years.

The Braves said earlier they would limit the season ticket sale to 12,000. A year ago the club sold 9,008 tickets for the year.

Charles Blossfield, assistant ticket director, said last summer's season ticket holders had been promised the same seats this year if they reordered before Monday and that he expected the weekend mail would run the total to 11,000.

The remaining 1,000 season tickets available now are on sale to the general public, Blossfield said.

Chicago to Seek 1960 Olympic Games

CHICAGO (U-P)—Chicago is going to make a strong bid for the 1960 Olympic games.

A 12-man committee, headed by Thomas H. Coulter, met Monday with Mayor Martin H. Kennelly to draw up plans for a bid.

Coulter, a former Olympic runner, said Chicago is bidding only for the summer games which would be held in August.

Ryff Outclasses Henry Davis to Win in Brooklyn

BROOKLYN (U-P)—Young Frankie Ryff, the unbeaten New York lightweight, had a glib-sounding but well-meaning explanation today of why he didn't go all out for a knockout in his 15th straight victory last night.

Ryff, 22, won every round as he outclassed the veteran Henry Davis of Los Angeles at Eastern Parkway. He had Davis set up but didn't deliver the clincher.

"I don't concentrate on knockouts," said Ryff. "They don't mean that much to me. And anyway, I like to practice on these guys."

Ryff weighed 139 1/2, Davis 135 1/2. Davis was the second important victim for Ryff, who turned pro in 1951 after winning national and Golden Gloves championships. His career was interrupted by a two-year Army hitch and an eight-month layoff because of a fractured knuckle. His first big win was a decision over Ralph Dupas.

The comeback of Moses Ward of Detroit was set back a notch at St. Nicholas Arena last night when Bobby Jones of Oakland, Calif., used superior boxing ability to gain a unanimous decision over him.

Ward weighed 159 1/2, Jones 155 1/2.

Johnson Still Has Eye on Athletics

CHICAGO (U-P)—Industrialist Arnold Johnson thinks his chances of buying the Philadelphia Athletics and moving them to Kansas City are so good that he's ready to pump a million dollars into the player market to build a pennant contender.

Johnson offered $3,375,000 for the Athletics last summer and yesterday said the offer still stands.

Farmer Caught, Spun by Machine, Critically Hurt

BLOOMING PRAIRIE, Minn. (U) — A Blooming Prairie farmer was injured critically Monday when he was whirled around a dozen times by a power take-off shaft on a beat harvesting machine and then hurled to the ground when the shaft broke.

The victim is Willard Johnson, 31. He was reported improved at an Austin Hospital today but his condition is still critical.

Johnson was spun by the shaft when his clothing became caught in the mechanism as he attempted to clear frozen earth from the harvester.

Orville Benson, working with Johnson, leaped for the harvester to shut it off but before he could do so, the shaft broke and hurled Johnson to the ground. The accident occurred on the O. K. Benson & Sons farm south of Blooming Prairie.

Johnson suffered a compound fracture of his left leg, extensive injuries to his right knee, an injured back, possible internal injuries, numerous abrasions and contusions on his left arm and back, lacerations about the head and severe shock.

Benson said the machine was running quite fast at the time and that Johnson's legs and arms struck the frame as he was whirled around. Benson said Johnson was spun around at least a dozen times.

Cow Moves in When Pranksters Leave

HENDERSON, Ky. (U) — When pranksters kept him awake by throwing walnuts against his house, Ed Dunbar decided to leave the front door open.

Now, he said to himself, "I can get a running start on them the next time it happens."

But Dunbar fell asleep. He awoke yesterday morning, walked into the living room and found his cow staring him in the face.

Hope Helps British Actors Entertain

LONDON (U) — Comedian Bob Hope and three American singers helped British stage stars entertain Queen Elizabeth II Monday night in the annual Royal Variety Stage Show.

The Queen was accompanied by her husband, the Duke of Edinburgh, and her 24-year-old sister, Princess Margaret.

The American songsters—all well received—were Howard Keel, Guy Mitchell and Frankie Lane.

The Queen and Princess Margaret, chatted with the stars after the show.

Prices of seats ranged up to 20 guineas ($32.80). Proceeds went to the Variety Artists' Benevolent Fund.

DENNIS THE MENACE

LAFF-A-DAY

LET'S EXPLORE YOUR MIND

By ALBERT EDWARD WIGGAM, D.Sc.

Answer to Question No. 1

1. Yes, judging from the millions they spend on beautifiers—some very painful—to look younger. Women lie about their ages with straighter faces and clearer consciences than men. True, men fight baldness with mingled hope, fear and tonics; but do little else to look younger.

Answer to Question No. 2
2. One psychologist had 1,542 boys rate themselves and each other on 22 traits: Nervousness, calmness, pep, punctuality, etc. Each tended to rate himself lower than other boys and his teachers rated him. The older boys rated themselves more accurately than the younger ones did, indicating they were growing into better self-judgment.

Answer to Question No. 3
3. Yes, according to "Actual Interview." Parents say to vocational counselor, "We want John to be a lawyer or engineer." Boy says emphatically, "I want to be an artist." Mother was a lawyer's secretary and thought it would be "so nice" for him to be "like law-2-ers." Dad had been an engineer but was forced into business. Turned out boy had special aptitude for history!

BEDTIME STORIES

By HOWARD GARIS

Nurse Jane was "harking" in Uncle Wiggly's hollow stump bungalow. Mr. Longears had asked his muskrat lady to "hark" and that is what she was doing. That is, she was listening.

Uncle Wiggly was also listening, his two ears bent forward as a horse bends his ears forward when he listens.

"What are you listening for?" asked Nurse Jane.

"For ticks," answered the rabbit gentleman.

"Ticks?" exclaimed Nurse Jane, sort of asking a question. "Tick?"

"Yes, ticks, ticks!" exclaimed Uncle Wiggly. "Do you want me to spell it for you?"

"Thank you! I have been to school," answered the muskrat lady sort of proud like. "I can spell ticks."

"No, my paw watch isn't here," he said, "Ouch!"

"Did you find it?" asked Nurse Jane, all excited like.

"No, but I found the table!" exclaimed the rabbit. "My head banged against it. Never mind! I have a lot of fur on my head and it doesn't hurt very much. But where is my paw watch?"

"I saw you, Uncle Wiggly. But I didn't know why you were jumping around."

"Well, now you know," said Uncle Wiggly and his pink nose did not twinkle. He was too sad to twinkle his nose.

"What happened when you jumped around like a kangaroo?" asked Nurse Jane, curious like and wondering.

"My watch slipped off my paw and it must have fallen to the floor," the rabbit gentleman answered. "I thought I saw it roll under the table, but I do not see it now. I'll take another look."

Uncle Wiggly stooped over and looked beneath the table.

"No, my paw watch isn't here," he said, "Ouch!"

"Did you find it?" asked Nurse Jane, all excited like.

"No, but I found the table!" exclaimed the rabbit. "My head banged against it. Never mind! I have a lot of fur on my head and it doesn't hurt very much. But where is my paw watch?"

"I will help you look," offered Nurse Jane kindly.

"Before you do anything else," said Uncle Wiggly, "please take that pan of nutshell pudding out to the kitchen. I don't want to look at it. Bur-r-r-r! It reminds me of my teeth! Take it away!"

"I shall do so at once!" exclaimed the muskrat lady. "I am so sorry about those whole nuts and the cracked shells being in the pudding!"

"It wasn't all your fault," said Uncle Wiggly kindly. "It was the trick that Johnnie Bushytail played. Please take this silly pudding to the kitchen. Then come back here and help me listen to the ticks of my paw watch. If that way we may find it."

"Like detectives," suggested Nurse Jane.

"Yes, like detectives," agreed Uncle Wiggly. "Hurry, Nurse Jane, if you please. I want to find my watch and then go look for an adventure."

"Won't you stay and have some more pudding, Mr. Longears?"

"Not with nut shells in!" answered the rabbit.

"Oh, I am going to make a whole new pudding!" promised Nurse Jane. "With only nut meats in this time. Johnnie Bushytail is bringing them back. His mother has sent him. Hark!"

"Do you hear the tick of my paw watch?" asked Mr. Longears.

"No, I hear the door bell," replied Nurse Jane. "I'll see who it is. You stay here and listen for the ticks!"

Uncle Wiggly listened for the ticking of his lost paw watch. The door bell rang again. There will be more to this story tomorrow if the ice pick doesn't take the feathers off the arrow to make wings for the alarm clock who wants to make time fly.

Former Mankatoan On Missing Plane

ST. PAUL (AP) — Among those listed as aboard the missing Navy plane is Marian Lucille Wolff, a Stewardess, whose mother, Mrs. Florence K. Wolff, now a resident of Richmond, Calif., formerly lived in St. Paul.

Relatives here reported that Miss Wolff is a graduate of Good Council High School in Mankato and has been in the Navy about three years.

Census Taker's Lot Is Far From Happy

SPEARVILLE, Kan. (AP) — Mrs. Tom Owen, working on a farm census in the Spearville area, has discovered there's more to the job than she thought. Since becoming census taker, she's been:

Blamed for the low price of eggs.

Chased by members of a family who thought they had at last caught the thief stealing canned goods from their basement.

Barked at by dogs and bawled out by farmers.

But she says her saddest experience came the other day when she delayed eating lunch, which she carries with her, because she wanted to catch a family at noon meal. When she returned to her car after talking to the family, she found the family cat on the seat. It was just finishing off Mrs. Owen's lunch.

Worker Sentenced For Attack on Baby

FLORENCE, Ariz. (AP) — Bob Spencer, 24-year-old service station worker, was sentenced yesterday to 24 to 30 years imprisonment for stealing a 9-month-old baby and sexually attacking him.

Spencer pleaded guilty to charges of sodomy, aggravated assault and child stealing.

The baby, Daniel Ernest Stephens, was taken from the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Stephens Jr., at Stanfield, a southern Arizona farming center, the night of Sept. 14.

A short time later officers found the child crying in some weeds beside a road.

PLEASANT BUSY BEES

RIDGWAY, Minn. (Special) — The Pleasant Busy Bees 4-H Club will meet Friday at 8 p.m. at the Ridgway school. The 1955 program will be planned and committees and demonstrators will be named.

Scientists say a good diet included 11 parts carbohydrates, 2 parts protein and 3 parts fat.
